ATLANTIC WALL, NAZI CITIES BLASTED

The War Today . . .

By De Witt Mackenzie
Associated Press War Analyst

OUR Uncle Sam, having expressed dissatisfaction with Sweden's rejection of the Allied request to stop sending ball bearings—vital war materiel—to Germany, has had his coat-tails stepped on by the Stockholm Aftonbladet, one of Sweden's big newspapers.

Aftonbladet asserts that Britain merely supported the request and that Russia "was the last to say anthing."

The paper then voices surprise that the note "came from a nation which among the Allies has done the least in the war" — and that means us.

Well, that's blunt language, but frankness can be employed between friendly peoples like the Swedes and Americans.

Aftonbladet's appraisal invites two important questions: 1.—What justification is there for the Allied request? 2.—By what standard do we measure the worth of war contribution?

FIRST off, we readily can understand the difficulties of Sweden's position. Ever since the war started she has been sitting under Nazidom's big guns, in constant danger of attack.

The bulk of her essential foreign imports come from Germany and for this there has had to be a quid pro quo. Sweden is indeed lucky in being able to maintain neutrality and independence.

Having admitted this we come to the present Allied viewpoint. The Allies have recognized Sweden's troubles and up until now haven't made embarrassing requests.

They conceded that she wasn't prepared to stand up against Hitler's military might without aid and they couldn't give adequate help.

Now, however, the picture has changed. The fuehrer already is a beaten man. It only remains to see how long he can hang on by the skin of his teeth.

We are about to enter the crucial final stretch of the conflict and most experts agree with our Admiral Ernest J. King, commander-in-chief of the United States navy, that victory over Germany is possible this year.

AT long last we are able to give Sweden ample aid if she is attacked by Germany. The same is true of other neutrals. On that basis the Allies feel that those who don't line up with them are against them.

They know that Sweden in her heart stands for the justice of the United Nations' cause. Therefore, they ask her to stop rendering vital aid to the reich and prolonging the war as we plunge into Armageddon.

And now for the claim that America has done the least among the Big Three. Do we measure the contribution in blood?

If so we must admit that both Russia and the British Empire have had far greater casualties than the United States, which hasn't been in the war so long.

DO we gauge it by the lease-lend program under which we already have sent $22,500,000,000 to our Allies? Do we judge by Marshal Stalin's little toast during the Teheran conference that "without American production the United Nations never could have won the war?"

Do we figure it on the basis of the titanic war machine we've created — a machine which among other things will give us a navy equal to that of all other nations by the end of the year—a machine which is about to swing into top gear with a vast expenditure in lives?

None of these things, it strikes me, gives a correct measure. I think the only true gauge of war contribution is the will of a nation to give everything it has, in total cooperation with the Allies, to achieve victory.

If each ally does its best, then its contribution is the equal of those of the other partners — no greater, no less.

Army Casualties 148,425

WASHINGTON, April 27—American army casualties total 148,425 from the start of the war through April 15, Secretary of War Stimson reported today.

Rep. Dewey Assails Biddle

WASHINGTON, April 27 — Rep. Dewey (R) of Illinois today declared Atty. Gen. Biddle engaged in a "high-handed and un-American procedure" in ruling that Montgomery Ward and Co. is in war work and thus vulnerable to government conscription because of its labor dispute.

U.S. Troops Eject Company Head In Ward Plant Battle

Avery Carried Bodily From Building In Chicago When He Refuses To Yield To Government's Seizure; Roosevelt Acts As Chairman Stands Firm

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 27—Two soldiers of the army detail which seized the Montgomery Ward and Company Chicago plant forcibly ejected Sewell L. Avery, 69, company chairman, today from his own offices which he refused to yield to the authority even of President Roosevelt.

The troopers carried Avery bodily out of the administration building.

Atty. Gen. Francis Biddle said ejection of the uncompromising foe of the government procedure invoked after a labor dispute was ordered after Avery refused to cooperate with the government officials who have taken charge.

Biddle outlined to reporters the dramatic occurrences preceding Avery's ejection. He said the government is in possession, intends to remain in possession and is anxious that the business be conducted without interruption and with the company staff continuing in operation.

"When Mr. Avery reported at his office at 9:55 a. m. we asked him if he would cooperate and he refused to do so," Biddle said. "Mr. Avery was asked to turn over company books to government bookkeepers so they could set up new books. He refused.

Avery Refused To Leave Voluntarily

"Mr. Avery told us he was the boss and would continue to do things his way or not at all. We asked Mr. Avery if he would advise his staff to cooperate and he refused and said he would instruct them to do the opposite."

Biddle said that then, "in view of his refusal to cooperate with the United States government, Mr. Avery was told that we desired him to leave the plant. He refused to leave voluntarily.

"Mr. Taylor (Wayne C. Taylor, undersecretary of commerce who took charge of the plant operations) on my advice instructed Maj. J. R. Weber (in charge of the army detail) to conduct Mr. Avery out of the building and not to let him return.

"Mr. Avery resisted and was carried bodily out of the plant.

"When he is ready to cooperate with us and the United States government we will be glad to have him back."

Biddle arrived by plane in Chicago today. He was accompanied by Hugh B. Cox, assistant solicitor general. They went to the Drake hotel.

Soldiers with bayonetted rifles patrolled the administration building offices and the entrance to the retail store, shooing out reporters, although a company spokesman said press quarters will be made available later.

Maj. Weber of the Sixth service command is in charge of the detail of some 35 soldiers, a token force which Taylor said yesterday simply emphasizes the fact that the United States government has taken charge.

Business As Usual

Taylor also declared business will proceed as usual, except that Avery's voice no longer will be recognized. Only the Chicago properties are involved.

There was no immediate word from Avery or company counsel on Ward's next step although it was speculated the company may make some court move promptly.

Printed notices, signed by Jesse Jones, secretary of commerce, and stating that all Ward's Chicago properties now are under federal government control, were posted in the building.

The dispatching of a detachment of troops to the plant late yesterday climaxed the government's third effort during the day to successfully carry out President Roosevelt's directive, issued when the company failed to comply with his and a war labor board order to extend an expired contract with a CIO union.

Avery Refused To Yield

Twice during the day officials of the department of commerce and the attorney general's office took steps to take possession of the plant but, on both occasions, they failed when Avery refused to recognize their authority, contending the seizure was illegal.

He had advised Mr. Roosevelt in a telegram that the company was not engaged in war work and seizure by any federal official would be unconstitutional.

WLB Survival May Hinge On Present Fight

Government Feels Powers Would Be Nullified Under Lengthy Court Tests

By JOSEPH A. LOFTUS
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 27 — The war labor board, veteran of many crises, risked its prestige once more today in the seizure of Montgomery Ward and Co.

The survival or dissolution of the board in its present form may hinge on this attempt to make its order stick.

The WLB has found in Sewell Avery (directing influence of Montgomery Ward, U. S. Gypsum and Hummer Manufacturing) an opponent to be reckoned with.

Other law suits and cases of delayed compliance have backed up behind Avery's defiance and, until the Montgomery Ward case is disposed of, the log jam is expected to grow.

The Chicago mail order house seizure may be the beginning of a test that will go to a Supreme Court decision but, if so, that is not the government's choice, It is seeking a decision in one fall, not protracted litigation.

The WLB has operated largely on a basis of voluntary compliance. Out of more than 6,000 disputes, it has referred 17 to the President for enforcement of decisions. Seven of these were employer defiance and Montgomery Ward accounts for two of the seven.

The board operated for more than a year and a half without having to go into court. Avery set a fashion when he sued in behalf of U. S. Gypsum Co. (Warren, O.) last September, and subsequently in five others.

The total court actions now pending against the board is 16. Avery's six cases include four Montgomery Ward actions covering six cities. His last defiance is the Hummer Manufacturing Co., a Montgomery Ward division which makes gun parts.

The government, through the de-

Butter Lowered Four Points; Lamb Cut In Half, Beef Jumps

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 27 — With more butter on store shelves, the ration value comes down Sunday from 16 points a pound to 12, while values on choice beef cuts go up a point.

A 4-point reduction for margarine also has been ordered by the office of price administration, bringing the new value to 2 points a pound. Farm or country butter gets an 8-point tag, reduced from 12.

Veal continues at current levels on the May chart, but all lamb and mutton items are reduced an average of 50 percent to speed young lambs to market from drouth-stricken areas.

Spareribs, point-free in April, are given a value of 1 point a pound to slow rapid movement, but points on other pork cuts are unchanged.

Shortening, lard, salad and cooking oils continue point free in May.

Lowering the point value for butter is possible because of seasonally-increased production which is at the best level since last Sep-

SOLDIER BALLOT SPEEDED IN OHIO

Bricker Asks All-Inclusive Plan In Legislature Talk

By E. E. EASTERLY
Associated Press Staff Writer

COLUMBUS, April 27—The Ohio senate hopes to vote today on the soldier ballot bill after Republicans and Democrats indicated they are in general agreement on the legislation's purpose.

The measure, designed to enable all Ohio electors in and with the armed forces to vote in the Nov. 7 election, then would be dispatched to the house of representatives, which is not expected to act before Friday.

Thus the legislature, convened in special session Wednesday night, got off to a speedy start toward its leaders' goal of completing their work by Friday night.

Would Consider Other Matters

Democratic members of both houses, however, are hopeful that Gov. John W. Bricker will allow the session to consider other subjects, such as additional state funds for local governments and an increase in the election day voting hours, now fixed at 6:30 a. m. to 6:30 p. m.

A special session is limited to consideration of the subjects submitted by the governor and Bricker's message last night dealt exclusively with soldier voting.

The senate rejected a bill by Sen. William Boyd (D) of Cleveland to make the voting hours 6:30 a. m. to 9 p. m. for the convenience of war plant workers. Lt. Gov. Paul M. Herbert held the measure was not germane to the governor's call.

The house Democratic minority thereupon decided to offer resolutions asking the governor to extend his call to embrace the voting hours and more funds for the cities and counties.

Republican members of the house and senate are in the majority and thus able to over-ride Democratic proposals if they wish.

Legislation, introduced last night and referred immediately to the election committees of both houses, would enable electors in the armed forces to vote for every type of candidate from township trustee to president of the United States. They also could ballot on local option proposals to prohibit the sale of beer and liquor.

The governor recommended this all-inclusive plan of voting in contrast to the federal ballot advanced by congress, which would permit the soldiers and sailors to vote

For Preserving Peace

THE nation is united in hope that further wars can be prevented, after this one is won. Both political parties agree on this aim. More important, both parties are in substantial agreement on method. To maintain this unity, Secretary of State Cordell Hull asked for a representative group of senators to consult with him continuously on post-war foreign policy. His wise leadership has been supplemented by judicious selection of the senators who represent both the Democratic and Republican parties, and the Progressives.

Great Quantities Of Supplies Seized At Madang; Aitape Also Falls In Smash

By The Associated Press.

Utter collapse of Japanese defenses at both ends of a 430-mile New Guinea war front, resulting in seizure on the west of two air fields at Hollandia and a third on the east at captured Madang, was reported today by Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

In four days, four air fields and three coastal bases were wrested from the Japanese. One air field already is in use and engineers are rushing repairs on the other three.

A fifth air field, the big Hollandia airdrome, is expected to fall momentarily to pincer forces, ending the assault phase of a big military operation undertaken last Saturday.

On the west, a force has moved 11 miles to the edge of the 'drome. On the east, another force is nearing a juncture.

Many Supplies Seized

At Madang, by-passed in the amphibious thrust into Dutch New Guinea, Australians, who for months had moved slowly coastward from the Ramu valley, overcame enemy rear-guards to invest the supply base and its air field on the shores of Astrolabe bay. Large quantities of supplies and equipment fell to the captors.

The entire invasion front of 150 miles between Hollandia and Aitape is crumbling. Hollandia village was taken on the second day.

Today headquarters announced the occupation Tuesday of Aitape, five miles from Tadji airdrome which the Americans seized on the first day of the invasion and which now is being used by the Fifth air force.

Jap Resistance Weak

Nowhere from Madang to Hollandia, between which some 60,000 Japanese are believed to be caught, was there a report of stiff enemy opposition.

The thousands of Sixth army troops now about to join their pincers along a 34-mile road linking the original beach-heads at Tanahmerah and Humboldt bays in the

DISMISSAL ORDERED FOR A.A.F. OFFICERS

Court Martial Finds Three Guilty Of Neglect Of Duty

By The Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, April 27 — More than 3,000 pages of testimony, scores of exhibits and hours of argument ended Wednesday with one sentence spoken three times:

"To be dismissed from the service."

A court martial trying the biggest case growing out of the nation's four-year war production effort found all three A. A. F. officers guilty of neglect of their duty to stamp out what the government described as malpractices in inspection of airplane engines and parts at the $155,000,000 Lockland, O., plant of the Wright Aeronautical Corp.

The three were found innocent, however, of more serious charges of conspiracy and perjury.

The sentence, ordered by the 11-member court headed by Brig. Gen. Lehman Miller, commander of Camp Sutton, N. C., for each was dismissal, effective after their cases go through automatic reviews by Maj. Gen. James L. Collins, chief of the Fifth service command, who appointed the tribunal, the judge advocate general's department in Washington and possibly the secretary of war and the President.

25 NAZI VESSELS SENT TO BOTTOM

12 Others Damaged During Sweeping Allied Blows

By The Associated Press.

Around the fringe of Adolf Hitler's besieged and roofless European fortress, Russian planes, Allied warships, navy and army fliers have sunk at least 25 more German vessels and damaged a dozen others.

Down to the floor of the Black sea went five transports filled with troops fleeing the Crimean coffin corner; beneath the icy waters of the Barents sea went four more transports—all victims of Russian bombs, Moscow said.

British carrier planes caught a German convoy off the Norwegian coast, damaging five ships.

A Canadian and British naval force on a pre-invasion patrol in the English channel sank a Nazi destroyer and routed two or three others Wednesday, the admiralty announced.

Most of the others sank or were crippled around Italy.

The channel force, consisting of the British cruiser Black Prince, the destroyer Ashanti and the Canadian destroyers Haida, Athabaskan and Huron, encountered a German flotilla of three or four destroyers of the Elbing class near the Isle De Bas, off the northwest coast of Brittany, France, before dawn Wednesday.

The Black Prince, commanded by Capt. D. M. Lees of the royal navy, illuminated the scene with star shells, and the British and Canadian destroyers opened fire,

Essen, Rail Yards In Paris Area And Schweinfurt Torn

2,000 American And British Planes Keep Great Attack Going For 13th Straight Day; Reich Radio Hints At New Blows Today By Italy-Based Fliers

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, April 27—Two thousand Allied planes slammed perhaps 6,000 tons of bombs on Nazi targets in the gigantic pre-invasion air offensive today—U. S. bombers pounding heavily at the German Atlantic Wall after an R. A. F. assault on Essen, Schweinfurt and rail yards near Paris.

Well more than 1,000 British bombers rained possibly 4,500 tons of explosives and incendiaries on the Nazi cities and rail target by moonlight, opening the 13th consecutive day of bombing.

Then 500 to 750 U. S. Liberators and Flying Fortresses lashed out against military objectives in northern France, supported by 250 to 500 fighters.

The German radio declared Allied planes roared into southern and southwest Germany this morning—possibly coming from Italy to make the day operations a two-way blow—and that great air battles were raging.

29 Big British Bombers Lost

For hours, beginning at dawn, the channel skies were filled with planes of almost every type resuming the scourging offensive.

Twenty-nine big British bombers were lost in the triple assault on the armament city of Essen—the "Pittsburgh of Germany" — Schweinfurt and its ball bearing factories, and the railways at Villeneuve St. Georges, 15 miles southeast of Paris.

Mosquito bombers also attacked the port of Hamburg, with two planes lost, and other bombers laid mines.

German bombers, apparently intent on harassing invasion demobilizations, struck at the English coast three times during the night and Berlin identified objectives as the naval base of Portsmouth and other harbors.

Two hours after the main assault on Essen, home of the Krupp works, a great area of fire overspread the city and smoke rose 20,000 feet, the air ministry declared. The Schweinfurt bombing was "particularly well concentrated."

Ninth Attack On Essen

Essen once was the main prop of the German heavy armament industry and last was pounded by more than 750 British bombers March 26 and by Mosquito squadrons April 8.

This was the ninth attack on Essen, a 600-mile round-trip permitting the raiders to lug heavy loads. The air ministry disclosed recently that the Germans had rebuilt extensively in the city, which once had been believed knocked out of the war.

Schweinfurt, hammered repeatedly by U. S. heavy bombers, is in southwest Germany, 475 miles from British bases, and once produced half of all the Nazis' ball bearings.

Some of the costliest air battles of the war have been fought in the American blows at Schweinfurt.

The Nazi-controlled Paris radio declared Paris was under attack for more than an hour and said the raid "cost the lives of many Frenchman." The R.A.F. has been hitting steadily at prime rail targets in this sector.

The R.A.F. strike against Essen and Schweinfurt followed an assault on Brunswick Wednesday by 250 to 500 American Fortresses and Liberators with 1,500 tons of bombs, in which not a bomber was lost.

Special To The Review.

HAMMONDSVILLE, April 27 — Mr. and Mrs. Eliza Buchanan of near Hammondsville have been notified that their son, Pvt. Carl E. Buchanan, 19, received leg wounds on Feb. 13 while in infantry action on the Anzio beachhead in Italy.

Complete The Memorial Auditorium!

(Third of a series explaining the 21 items the building still needs.)

SEVERAL citizens groups are sponsoring the proposed 1-mill, two-year levy to complete the Memorial Auditorium. They asked seven East Liverpool engineers to examine the building and the architect's estimates. These men reported the structure can be completed for occupancy for $52,902.20—which the levy is estimated to yield. Two of the 21 items still needed are:

Stoker—Estimated Cost: $1,430

Boilers and a furnace already are installed, but a stoker is necessary to reduce operating man-hours. Also a stoker will reduce fuel consumption. It will be automatically controlled, stopping and starting according to load requirements as governed by varying steam pressures. The cost estimate includes need tools for stoker operation.

Air Filters—Estimated Cost: $520

Ventilation for the auditorium is provided in two fan rooms where filters are needed to remove dust from air brought in from outdoors. The filters are a series of copper screens, treated with oil. The estimated cost includes tanks for cleaning and recoating the screens.

Russian Guns Rake Streets In Sevastopol

Nazi Attempts To Hold City Appear In Last Stage; Reds Capture Hill

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, April 27—Field dispatches from the Crimean front declared today that Soviet artillery, commanding every street in Sevastopol, is firing point-blank into the city and asserted German attempts to hold out definitely have entered their last stage.

"The enemy still holds dead streets and squares," according to the army newspaper Red Star, "but Soviet guns have reached the Germans and Romanians in their last shelters."

It appears the Soviet high command has decided to wipe out the enemy at any cost, even though it might mean the complete destruction of what still remains of battered Sevastopol.

The Red Star correspondent said the Germans still hold airdromes in the suburbs of the once-great naval base but that they have been rendered unusable. He declared Soviet dive-bombers are cooperating with artillery in blasting the city.

The dispatch added that Russian troops have captured an important hill near the city on which the

2 Freighters Sunk During 4-Vessel Erie Crashes

By The Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, April 27 — Two ship collisions occurred in a heavy fog which swept over Lake Erie at dawn today, resulting in the possible loss of 10 seamen and two lake freight carriers.

The James H. Reed, operated by Pickands Mather lines for the Interlake Steamship Co. of Cleveland, sank about 40 miles north of Erie, Pa., after colliding with the steamer Ashcroft, operated by Canadian Steamship Lines, Ltd., of Montreal.

Ten crewmen from the Reed are feared lost and 26 survivors were taken aboard the Ashcroft which headed for Erie.

The Columbia Transit Co.'s steamer Frank Vigor was reported sunk in Pelee Passage of western Lake Erie at about the same time, 6:30 a. m. (East Liverpool war time) after colliding with the steamer Phillip Minch, owned by the Kinsman Transit Co.

All members of the Vigor's crew were transferred to the Minch and there were no injured, the coast guard reported.

Canada steamship lines officials said in Montreal, "We do not know how many men were aboard the lake vessel," and added they have received only scanty reports because adverse atmospheric conditions have hampered ship-to-shore radio transmission.

A Quick Glance At The World's News . . .

From Washington—

Ickes Deferment Policies Hit

The interior department's draft deferment policies for its white collar workers drew the fire Wednesday of the house appropriations committee, which asserted the situation "must be eliminated without undue delay."

In a report accompanying submission to the house of the department's $87,672,580 supply bill for the fiscal year starting July 1, the committee said it was "disappointed" at the department's requests for deferment of draft-age personnel.

Secretary Ickes defended the department's deferment policies when he testified in support of the appropriations. He considers the government, Ickes said, "important enough in itself to merit deferment of key workers."

The committee also criticized the department's office of Indian affairs, which it said "needs a through over-hauling and reorganization."

Around The Nation—

Novel Adjudged 'Obscene'

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—The controversial novel "Strange Fruit" by Lillian Smith was adjudged "obscene" by District Court Judge Arthur P. Stone Wednesday, although he said it is "a story that might be told," and a Cambridge bookseller was fined $200 for possessing and selling it.

Abraham Isenstadt, Harvard Square bookseller who sold the book to Bernard A. Re Voto, noted author and literary critic, by prearrangement with the police in an effort to test a local ban on the book, appealed and was held in $25 bail for superior court.

"Strange Fruit" deals with living conditions between whites and Negroes in a southern community, with sex having a prominent part, the leading characters being a white man and a Negro girl.

Plan To Employ Veterans

NEW YORK—A broad program designed to facilitate the employment of war veterans in all of the principal plants of Westinghouse Electric & Mfg. Co. was announced Wednesday by A. W. Robertson, chairman.

Robertson said Westinghouse has approximately 20,000 employes on leave of absence with the armed forces and already has re-employed about 1,800 veterans who were honorably discharged, many with physical handicaps received in action.

The company's program includes the assignment of an industrial relations representative at the principal plants in some 25 cities to be responsible for re-establishment of returning veterans.

Win Journalism Awards

NEW YORK — Ruth Williams Ricci of Syracuse university, a khaki-clad private in the Women's Army Corps, has won the third annual journalism award of the American Newspaper Publishers association—$500 and a gold medal.

Pvt. Ricci, a native of Hilton, N. Y., wrote her winning essay, "Fortresses Of Freedom", before enlisting in the WAC last December.

Second prize, a silver medal, was won by William J. Schmelzle of Freeport, Ill., a student at the University of Illinois school of journalism; and third prize, a bronze medal, by Marcus Gleisser of Cleveland, a student in the journalism department of Western Reserve university.

Says Fourth Term Opposed

NEW YORK—John U. Barr, national president of the "Draft Byrd For President" movement, said Wednesday that feeling in the south is so strong against a fourth term that a "sizeable number" of southern delegates would walk out of the Democratic convention should an attempt be made to draft President Roosevelt.

Barr, who has just completed a 10-day southern tour, told a press conference that the movement to nominate Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D) of Virginia for president has gained "tremendous momentum".

2,200 Laymen Pray For Cardinal

BOSTON — Representing the more than 1,000,000 members of his flock in 325 parishes, 2,200 laymen of the Boston archdiocese offered prayers Wednesday for eternal rest for their departed leader, William Cardinal O'Connell, at the second solemn high mass of requiem at the Cathedral of the Holy Cross.

Around Ohio—

Labor Shortages Still Exist

CLEVELAND — Ohio's industrial employment has leveled off, but acute labor shortages still exist in foundries, forge shops and chemical plants, a survey by the Cleveland regional field office of the departmentment of commerce disclosed Wednesday.

Robert L. Whaley, business consultant for the department's regional office, who drafted the report, said war production in the region "apparently has reached its peak and industrial employment is leveling off." He added armament plants still find it difficult to replace men who are drafted.

The department's survey showed that between June, 1940, and the first of this year industrial employment in Akron increased 129.7 percent.

Columbus was next with 105.2 percent. Canton gains were 88.1 percent, Toledo 76.2, Cleveland and Cuyahoga county 72, Cincinnati 73.5, Dayton 59 and Youngstown 20.4.

Justifiable Homicide Ruled

YOUNGSTOWN — A verdict of justifiable homicide was returned by Coroner David E. Hauser Wednesday in the death of E. Quay McHenry, 30, who was shot by police during an automobile chase early Tuesday.

Clerk Faces Fund Charge

COLUMBUS — State examiners have reported findings for recovery totaling $2,431 against Dallas C. Shute, former clerk of Burlington rural school district in Lawrence county.

State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson said the findings pertain to unauthorized disbursements of school funds in 1942-43, aggregating $2,461, of which $30 have been recovered.

Ferguson said checks, check stubs and the disbursements journal had been burned since Shute was relieved of his position last December and that the case has been turned over to the county prosecutor for legal action.

MAKES OWN CLOUDS. Research engineer Arthur M. Stiles creates a cloud for experimental use in a Pittsburgh laboratory. The cloud provides one of the atmospheric conditions in which insulating materials are tested for the electrical systems of new bombing planes.

4-F Order To Affect Few

COLUMBUS — Lt. Col. Carl G. Wahl, state selective service manpower director, expressed belief Wednesday that a contemplated rescreening of men classified 4-F would have little effect on Ohioans.

National draft headquarters indicated the cases of some 3,600,000 4-F's will be re-examined soon, but Wahl said numerous Ohio boards are engaged in re-screening and few men are expected to be found acceptable for military service, even after corrective treatment for minor defects.

Hospital To Honor Ohioan

COLUMBUS—The army's England General hospital, named in honor of Lt. Col. Thomas M. England, a native of Chillicothe, O., and one of the heroes of the army medical department, will be dedicated at Atlantic City Friday.

England, until his death last July at the age of 66, was executive officer of the medical branch of the Fifth service command at Ft. Hayes here.

Arrested On OPA Charges

CINCINNATI—Austin A. Dunkin of Peebles, O., (Adams county), was arrested by deputy U. S. marshals on four charges of violating OPA regulations — including the sale of gasoline without ration stamps for 40 cents a gallon.

Three of the counts charged sale of rationless gasoline and the fourth, purchase of an "R" coupon book for three dollars.

Dunkin pleaded innocent before U. S. District Judge John H. Druffel and was freed on $1,000 bond.

From Abroad—

U. S. Role Least, Swedes Claim

STOCKHOLM — The Swedish newspaper Aftonbladet, commenting on U. S. Secretary of State Hull's expression of dissatisfaction with Sweden's reply to an Allied request to stop sending ball bearings to Germany, has expressed surprise that the request "came from a nation which among the Allies has done the least in the war."

The paper said that England merely has supported the request and that Russia "was the last to say anything."

(Hull told his press conference in Washington Tuesday that Sweden's answer to the ball bearing export request was not satisfactory.

The answer has not been made public, but it is understood to be a polite but firm refusal, with Sweden asserting she cannot break her commitments to Germany.)

British Boost Some Army Pay

LONDON—A government white paper Wednesday announced a 5-cent-a-day pay increase for especially proficient British army privates who have served at least three years, bringing their pay to $1 a day.

No general increase was granted, despite long agitation to raise British army pay up to American rates.

The present scale of about 60 cents a day for new soldiers classed as "unqualified" will continue, with an increase of 5 to 10 cents a day after the first six months and each year up to three years of service.

Japs To Make Protest

LONDON—The Tokyo radio quoted a foreign office communique Wednesday as saying that Japan will make a strong protest to Washington against alleged American attacks on Japanese hospital ships.

(There has been no evidence to support Japanese claims of American attacks on Japanese hospital ships—claims that apparently are by way of verbal retaliation for American charges of Japanese atrocities against American prisoners.)

Production of Vitamin C will be about ten times greater in 1944 than in 1941, the department of agriculture estimates.

BEAVER, April 27—District nominees named in Tuesday's primaries started plans today for the run-offs in November after final and official votes were announced for the various county, state and national candidates.

The two 25th congressional district delegates to the national conventions are reported as follows: Republican, Roger W. Rowland, 14,800, and James H. March, 14,694. Thompson Bradshaw received 10,631.

Democrats, James H. Wilson, 3,325, and Harry Delin, 2,917. Mike Keller got 2,805, and Thomas C. Buchanan, 2,787.

The 47th state senatorial district, covering Beaver and Lawrence counties, will have Harvey D. Bush, Republican, facing Louis Klein, Democrat, as the returns show the following:

In the Second legislative district, which includes the Beaver county territory west of the Ohio and Big Beaver rivers, the two Republican nominations for representative went to Myron E. Rowley, 4,494, and Everett Calvin, 4,465 votes. Nicholas Polovina finished third with 1,035. The Democratic ballot was uncontested, with Robert McLanahan receiving 1,652, and Reuben Nagel, 1,606.

RUSSIA

Germans had located eight artillery and four mortar batteries.

Russian fleet and air force blows have sunk five transports presumably carrying Axis troops from the besieged Crimean base, Moscow said.

1,000 Germans Killed

In land fighting, the war bulletin said, 1,000 Germans were killed in two sharp but localized actions along the front, but the Russians made no mention of German and Romanian reports of a renewed Red army drive in the lower Dnestr river area.

Southeast of Stanislawow in old Poland, Soviet tankmen wiped out a company of Germans and seized "a height of great importance," while more than 800 Germans were killed in a second clash in an unidentified sector of the second Ukraine front.

The Nazis lost 52 tanks and 79 planes over the whole front Tuesday, the Russians declared.

(A Romanian communique, broadcast from Bucharest and recorded by U.S. government monitors, declared the Russians have launched new attacks north of Iasi, capital of the Romanian province of the same name, and said heavy fighting is in progress. The bulletin also asserted further Russian attempts to widen the Soviet bridgehead on the lower Dnestr were repulsed.)

50-Ton Collection Expected; Windup Seen Today

East Liverpool's citywide scrap collection, which was to have been completed Wednesday, turned into a two-day event as a shortage of trucks and workers plus an overwhelming amount of scrap combined to keep workers busy past noon today.

More than 50 tons of general scrap probably will result from the "surprisingly" large collection, Chairman Frank K. Robinson said.

Only 11 of the 21 expected trucks turned out yesterday, which resulted in only a partial coverage of the city. The crews will work until everything is cleaned up today, Mr. Robinson said.

The old Standard pottery on Broadway virtually was filled, though it was empty when trucks began dumping their loads yesterday.

It is estimated that almost 20 tons of paper and about 18 or 20 tons of tin cans have been collected thus far, with several truckloads still to come in.

About six trucks and 16 volunteers are cleaning up the collection today.

Persons whose scrap is not collected by 6 p. m. today should call Mr. Robinson Friday (phone 77).

Headless Skeleton Found

WILMINGTON, O., April 27—The skeleton of a woman, the head resting alongside the body, was unearthed from a shallow grave Wednesday as Alva Tolle, farmer, prepared a garden in the rear of his home five miles southeast of here. Coroner C. E. Kinzel said: "There is no question but that a murder was committed. How long ago, we don't know."

SINKINGS

recording several hits. The Germans altered course, made smoke and tried to flee.

The Black Prince, a new ship whose existence previously had not been made public, avoided several torpedoes while the destroyers pressed home their attack on the Germans.

One damaged German destroyer, attempting to sneak away in the darkness, was overtaken and sunk by repeated hits from all four destroyers. The other Germans escaped.

The admiralty said the British ships had minor damage and casualties. The Germans claimed last August to have sunk the Athabaskan, one of the destroyers which got principal credit for the channel victory.

BUTTER

tember, Price Administrator Chester Bowles said.

"A month ago, the war food administration allocated 151,000,000 pounds of butter to us for distribution to civilians in April or 13,000,000 pounds more than we got in April last year," he continued.

"Throughout the current month, sales appear to have been running below production."

About 145,000,000 pounds of butter have been allocated for civilian use in May as compared with 135,000,000 in May, 1943.

The anticipated meat supply for civilians in May is 1,414,296,000 pounds compared with 1,233,900,000 pounds in April.

Most steak cuts go up a point a pound because of demands. Flank steak, however, will be reduced from 12 points to 10.

Rib round tip and rump (bone in) beef roasts, go up 1 point a pound, but rump boneless roasts will be 2 points higher. Hamburger will stay at 6 points.

Lamb and mutton steaks and chops will be reduced 3 and 4 points, roast 2 and 3, stews and other cuts 2.

Lamb and mutton breast, flank, neck and shank will be point free for the month.

Variety meats, beef and veal heart, sweetbreads and tongue will be reduced 1 point a pound.

Types three and four bologna and frankfurters go down a point, and some sausage items including head cheese, souse and scrapple become point free.

Some ready-to-eat meats will be reduced 1 to 2 points and dry beef in containers goes from 16 to 12 points a pound.

AIR RAIDS

No German fighters rose to challenge the bombers' large fighter escort.

A number of persons were killed last night when a German raiders' high explosive bomb hit the underground shelter in which about 60 adults and children had sought haven at a south coast town in England.

Bombs fell in a tenement district, smashing a mission hall and several taverns.

A terrific explosion on the French coast—from the some direction as others heard in recent days—rocked Deal and other British towns along Dover strait today, suggesting the Germans are doing an 11th-hour rush order blasting job for their west wall defenses.

A deep, rumbling noise preceded the blast. The ground shuddered, houses rocked, doors were sprung and locks flew open.

The explosion was preceded by a half hour of gun fire out in the strait, possibly indicating another naval skirmish.

'Events Have Controlled Us'

GOV. BRICKER'S address before the Ohio Society of New York Tuesday night is a complete answer to the problem of making foreign policy understandable.

Speaking the kind of language Americans can understand and expressing ideas they believe in, Gov. Bricker did more to shake the horse feathers out of foreign policy in a hour than administration apologists have done in six months. The reason is obvious: Gov. Bricker was not talking about horse feathers, but common sense.

He believes this country has been involved in two major wars against its will because it failed to keep pace with its expanding importance in international affairs—"events have controlled us." He proposes that henceforth we should try to control events.

He believes international security can be attained only by going to the mat with the realities which undermine it—bad tariff laws, monopolies, frictions in international exchange, cartels, barter systems and other barriers to cooperation and goodwill. He does not believe either goodwill or peace can be bought by squandering America's wealth or by merely expressing high ideals.

He believes the United States can help itself and its international neighbors by taking a more active role in world affairs. But it must be a role of dignity, clear purpose and unfaltering determination to carry out American principles.

GOV. BRICKER believes the first step should be projection into the post-war period of existing collaboration among the United States, Great Britain and Russia, the existing strong powers, and China, the potential strong power.

The second step should be the widening of four-power collaboration into the multi-powered collaboration of all the United Nations to deal with the continuing problems of international security.

The third step, following organization of a "cooperative organization of soverign nations," is a continuing study of the causes of war, with emphasis on stabilization of international exchange and restoration of the gold standard.

The fourth step, to be taken inside the United States, is development of a consistent, competent foreign policy, to make plain to other nations exactly what the United States stands for and what it intends to do.

GOV. BRICKER puts his faith in establishment of a reign of law—"a cooperative organization of sovereign states, bent upon peace and supported by a will for peace among their peoples."

His speech makes sense at home, and it will make sense abroad. It is a complete answer to every critic, either malicious or uninformed, who has tried to find in Gov. Bricker and in the section of America which he represents any evidence of failure to understand the problem of international security. It is, significantly, an enlargement of the principles expressed by Republican leaders last year at the Mackinac conference.

Gov. Bricker's stature as a spokesman for the Republican party has increased consistently during his speaking tours in recent weeks and now is rounded out. He has made a distinguished contribution to the American tradition of letting the people know what their political leaders stand for, with faith in the people's ability thereafter to make the right decision.

Horizontal Bargaining

A NEW term is needed to describe the national problem created by the demand for higher hourly rates in the steel industry. This is vastly more than collective bargaining by one group of workers in one industry. It is horizontal bargaining for all workers in all industry, because if steel workers break the so-called "Little Steel" formula, every wage agreement based on that formula will be subject to upward revision, also.

As between the steel industry and the unionists, the issue nominally is the industry's ability to absorb the increase being asked. Benjamin F. Fairless, president of the United States Steel Corp., testifying before a war labor board panel Tuesday, says the added cost of production would have to be passed on to consumers; that it cannot be confined in its effect to the financial operation of steel companies.

Whatever may be the case as far as the cost of steel is concerned, it is undeniably true that the effect of granting the increase could not be confined to steel.

It should be realized by the public, as it clearly is realized by the parties directly concerned, that this is not ordinary collective bargaining, but a case in which one union in one industry is bargaining for suspension of a wage stabilization formula covering millions of wage earners throughout the nation.

I believe that we may see in America such prosperity after the war as the world has not yet known. Contributing to this will be the unprecedented purchasing power which is being built up through accumulation of War Bonds, together with the tremendous pent-up demand for goods.—Gov. Bricker.

Foreign Policy Unity

At Cordell Hull's Suggestion, Connally Named Committee Of All Parties To Guide U.S. Action

BY MARK SULLIVAN

WASHINGTON, April 27—For a moment, Reader, lift your eyes from the anxieties, doubts, and contentions that beset us all, observe one deep tide that goes well.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull has dedicated himself to bringing about a world organization for preserving peace. Within that broad purpose he has prescribed for himself an indispensable qualification.

The world organization ultimately to be arrived at must be one which is satisfactory to the American people. And the test of the people's satisfaction must be the satisfaction of their elected representatives—the United States senate, which has power to confirm or reject.

To this end, Mr. Hull asked the chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, Democratic Sen. Connally of Texas, to appoint a committee of eight senators whose function is to consult with Mr. Hull—in order that each step, before it is taken, shall have the advice of the senate.

LAST week, Sen. Connally appointed the eight. In doing so he, like Mr. Hull, put upon himself a limitation. He might properly have named a majority of the committee from his own party—say five Democrats to three Republicans.

The Democrats have a large majority in the senate—58 to 37 Republicans; and that the majority party should have a majority of each committee is according to precedent.

Indeed, what Sen. Connally did in the interest of unity is practically, perhaps absolutely, without precedent. He made half the committee, four Democrats. To the Republicans he gave three members. To represent the line of thought that does not accord with the two major parties, he appointed Progressive Sen. LaFollette of Wisconsin.

Further, the eight whom Sen. Connally appointed comprise an able group. He could not choose from the entire senate—in the nature of things he had to make his selections from the foreign relations committee; but as it happens, all the eight are able.

In the conditions of their time, at least three of the eight, and perhaps four, are as able as any who ever sat in the senate.

The eight are: Sen. Connally, himself, by virtue of his chairmanship of the foreign relations committee; Democratic Sens. George of Georgia, Gillette of Iowa, Barkley of Kentucky; Republican Sens. Vandenberg of Michigan, Austin of Vermont, White of Maine, and Progressive Sen. LaFollette.

Two of the eight, Democrat Barkley and Republican White, are leaders of their respective party organizations in the senate.

OF all conceivable mechanisms for procuring assent of the senate in advance, and for bringing about the kind of international organization which the United States will be willing to enter, this is the best available.

To realize the promise held out by this step, contrast it with what President Wilson did, and the subsequent fate of the League of Nations, a quarter century ago.

Wilson, in attempting to set up the league, did not consult the senate. Nor did he consult the opposition party, the Republicans—though that party then had a majority of the senate, not a minority as now.

In naming the American delegation to the peace conference, Wilson included no senator, and in effect no Republican. Besides himself one appointee was Col. Edward M. House, who, to a generation that knows him only in history, may be described as one who had to Wilson somewhat the same relation that Mr. Harry Hopkins has to President Roosevelt.

Another, Robert Lansing, was secretary of state, but largely in a nominal sense—Wilson was his own secretary of state. Another was an army general, Tasker H. Bliss, able and high-minded—but not in the senate nor in civil public life, and without following or authority among the people.

The final member was a man who had spent virtually his entire mature life abroad, in various posts in the diplomatic service, Henry White. When it was said that White represented the Republican party, the retort was that if he ever had been a Republican, the fact had been forgotten.

WITH that delegation, Wilson went to the peace conference. With them nominally—but actually without much aid from them or even knowledge by them—he wrote the Covenant of the League of Nations. Information about the League and what Wilson was doing, came to the senate and to the American people through newspaper reports of steps already taken.

Thereupon, March 4, 1919, 39 senators—seven more than the one-third who could prevent ratification—signed a round robin. It was notice to the world that what Wilson was doing did not have in advance, and might not have in future, approval by the senate.

Bricker Or Dewey?

From The Ohio State Journal

IT would be a mistake for the people to accept as a foregone conclusion that Gov. Dewey of New York is going to be the Republican presidential nominee.

It would be a mistake for the simple reason that nobody knows anything about Mr. Dewey's foreign and domestic policies, if any.

It may be considered wise politics for him to remain silent as to his availability for the nomination, but it is hardly fair to the people to expect them to come down to the Republican national convention and then have shoved on them a pig in a poke, about which they know nothing, as was the case when Willkie was jammed over at Philadelphia four years ago.

Meanwhile, as Dewey remains silent and strives to create the illusion that he is a sphinx or an enigma, courageous Gov. Bricker of Ohio is going about the country telling people frankly and unequivocally his policies and opinions.

There is no beating about the bush in Mr. Bricker's attitude with the voters.

Wherever he goes, he talks constructively and lays down sound and sane policies he intends pursuing if he is elected the next president.

It is a fact that despite Gov. Bricker's frankness with the people and his active campaigning, Gov. Dewey still receives the vast bulk of publicity and comment from the nation's political writers and commentators.

But there are reasons for this. Most of them, for one thing, are in the east, close to Dewey; few of them are acquainted with the midwest except in a superficial sense.

NEW YORK city and New York state exert a peculiar influence on the thinking in nearby Washington, D. C., whence come the comments and interpretations of the bigshot political writers, columnists and radio speakers.

Just as these men misjudged the self-asserted strength of Wendell Willkie, not one of them suspecting or predicting his defeat in Wisconsin, they now are inclined to believe the Republican party will stampede to Dewey, overlooking the fact that the backbone of the Republican party is in the middlewest.

Republican leaders in the middlewest have not yet flocked to the Dewey wagon.

They are not apt to be rushed off their feet by any candidate, especially not this time, after their sad experience of four years ago.

As Willkie himself acknowledged in his statement of withdrawal, no one can be nominated without the support of some of the big midwestern states, and of course none can be elected without them.

Gov. Bricker is the midwest's candidate. He has made a record as governor of the most representative state of the union, which qualifies him superbly for the presidency of the nation.

He has told the public where he stands on national issues.

His attitude is a welcome contrast to that of Mr. Dewey who, if his silence is designed to keep his prospective Democratic opponents in the dark, likewise is keeping in the dark the people on whom he must depend for votes.

Sooner or later, if this goes on, the nation will awaken to the fact that Mr. Bricker is the logical Republican to lead them to victory over New Dealism.

Progress Report

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

ALTHOUGH Tom Dewey is out in the lead for the presidential nomination, all the other candidates are still busy and Gov. John Bricker is establishing himself as a national leader of the party.

Even should he not be nominated, he will have succeeded in winning for himself a national following by persistent hard work and travel and by exposing his personality to contact.

John Bricker is really a fascinating individual, characteristically American, homey, affectionate and warm. He is winning friends, if not delegates, wherever he goes.

MacArthur's correspondence with Congressman Miller left the general out on a limb politically. It would be ridiculous, however, to ignore the MacArthur following. No other general in this war has impressed his personality upon the country and if he came to this country he might overwhelm a convention. Stassen's popularity persists, particularly among former Willkie supporters.

THIS is an unusually clean canvass. No candidate attacks the other. There is no pulling down. There is no smearing. In fact, Dewey supporters speak with enthusiasm of Bricker and Stassen, particularly Bricker.

It is the party that is being rebuilt—and that sentiment is surprisingly general after all these years of political frigidity. No matter who is nominated, he now can count on united party support and loyalty.

Rumors continue that President Roosevelt will not run for a fourth term and Republicans listen to that lorelei too avidly. Sound politics would be to anticipate that he will run and that a campaign has to be organized on that basis.

If Roosevelt should not run, a Republican victory is assured. But the Republican convention meets before the Democratic and Mr. Roosevelt is not likely to accommodate his opponents by making an announcement of his intentions in advance.

It is not wise or necessary for him to do anything of the sort. The Republicans must move into the campaign then on the assumption that Roosevelt will be their opponent.

AND it would be unfortunate for the country if he did not run because what is most necessary is to have a directive from the people, not an accidental victory. If the Republicans win it ought to be because a majority of the voters want them to win. They will wage a campaign of specific criticism of the New Deal philosophy of life and government. It will be an uncompromising criticism and a positive program for the future will be offered.

New Deal leadership consists solely of President Roosevelt. There are no successors, no substitutes, no runners-up. Henry Wallace has done everything possible to be recognized as Roosevelt's successor, but it has not taken. And there is no one else.

Should Roosevelt not run, the Democrats will most likely nominate an anti-New Dealer and Jim Farley will be back running the party. But the defeat of such a candidate by the Republicans—or his election—will not give the people the opportunity to declare themselves on the New Deal.

And should Roosevelt be re-elected, even the opponents of the New Deal would have to admit that the people have had ample opportunity to decide against it and decided for it.

There is no possibility of speaking of a "bought vote" in this election. There is no WPA to vote. Some political statisticians make the point that the huge federal employment represents a new type of "bought vote", but that is stretching a point too far in a period of industrial prosperity during which no one is dependent on the particular job he holds.

If he loses it, there are a dozen others in the offing. In such circumstances the voter follows his own inclinations more readily. The "bought vote" will not count in this election.

THERE is no "isolationist" sentiment in either party. That will not be an issue in this campaign and nobody will be able to make it an issue. The Republican party's plank on foreign affairs will follow the Mackinac resolutions and that precludes "isolationism".

Mr. Roosevelt will be forced, by the nature of the campaign, to run on domestic measures unless there is some outstanding, unexpected startling war development. No one can tell about that at this moment —not even Mr. Roosevelt.

Governors Set Atop The G.O.P.

By JACK STINNETT

WITH Wendell Willkie out of the presidential picture and (many here believe) Gen. Douglas MacArthur fading fast, the Republican party this election year might almost be called the Republican governors' party.

Not in recent years has it seemed so certain that governors would fill both ends of a presidential ticket.

The handwriting has been on the wall since the non-partisan conclave of governors in Columbus last summer. It was even more apparent at the Mackinac island Republican postwar conference. There, some of the congressional G.O.P. conservatives did manage to temper the language of a few resolutions, but it was the governors who stole the show.

There are 26 Republican governors and if they can carry their states in the November elections, the Republicans are in—in a walk—because those states control well over a majority of the electoral votes.

With Gov. Thomas E. Dewey far out in front as the potential G.O.P. nominee, and Gov. Earl Warren of California, as convention keynoter, and at the moment extremely favored here as Dewey's likeliest running mate, it does look like governor's day at the presidential races.

However, with Willkie and Gen. MacArthur excepted, try to name any prospective nominee for either end of the ticket other than Gov. Bricker (Ohio); Saltonstall (Mass.); Griswold (Neb.); Baldwin (Conn.); or the three-termer from Minnesota, Lt. Comdr. Harold E. Stassen, now on combat duty with the navy.

The weight that the governors are going to carry in the convention, both in selecting the nominees and shaping the Republican party platform was underscored in Chicago when the Republican national committee sidetracked leading candidates Sen. Arthur Vandenberg, Rep. Claire Boothe Luce and others to name Gov. Warren as the keynoter for the national convention, June 26.

At the outset Gov. Warren's name hardly had been mentioned and it was presumed the congressional bloc was in the saddle.

This rise in gubernatorial stock hasn't been without some elements of chance. According to observers here, Willkie's withdrawal eliminated almost all probability of a convention deadlock.

That deadlock, it was believed, was the greatest possibility Gen. MacArthur, Gov. Bricker, or any other "dark horse" had for winning the nomination.

Gen. MacArthur, these observers say, was given a further setback when a well-intentioned backer made public what the general referred to as purely personal correspondence, indicating that he may have been giving considerable thought to his presidential possibilities.

In this election year of the great silence, it often seems to be fatal for a man even to hint that he considers himself in the running.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

The 'Out-Duction Camp'.

The army has come across with a grand idea. It will turn some of its induction camps into "out-duction" camps.

Just as he was processed to fit into the army a veteran will be processed to fit back into everyday life.

MONDAY

1.—Injection to render a veteran immune to the "bugs" which have made pretty poor specimens of many civilian patriots.

2.—Field training to harden him sufficiently to endure the picture of soft-living civilians, black-market operators, chiselers, etc.

3.—Lectures on how to eat off regular china.

4.—Instructions on how to get into a three-piece business suit.

TUESDAY

Quiz. Sample questions:

1.—What does the word "hot" mean on a bath-tub fixture?

2.—Give the meaning of the following words: (1) Glass goblet; (2) silverware; (3) chafing dish; (4) box springs; (5) limoge ware; (6) pewter pitcher; (7) alarm clock; (8) porch hammock.

3.—What is a vest? A white collar? A pair of pajamas?

4.—What is the meaning of the words, "You are wanted on the telephone"?

5.—Define the meaning of a sign reading "Do Not Disturb," and state in no more than 10 words what you will do when you see one.

WEDNESDAY

1.—Field exercise in how to shave with hot water.

2.—Demonstrations in how to place an order for breakfast specifying a determination to achieve results.

3.—Instructions in how to adjust self to a job in which no shooting is permitted or expected.

4.—Lectures, "Revising One's Attitude Toward the Potato"; "The Art of Leaving Dishes on the Table Instead of Taking Them Out to Wash Them in a Barrel"; "Breakfast in Bed and the Approach Thereto."

THURSDAY

1.—Hikes through rural country for purposes of becoming accustomed to turning a corner without awaiting word from scouts.

2.—Hikes through thickly congested centers for purposes of accustoming eyes to intact buildings.

FRIDAY

Home Operations: These will consist wholly of preparing a discharged soldier to approach any building or home in America without first exploring for hidden mines.

SATURDAY

1.—Lecture on "The Silk Shirt and Its Part in Civilization."

2.—Illustrated talk on "The Secret of Becoming Used to Going Around in Dry Clothes."

3.—Athletic Contests: (1) Hurling the Spam; (2) Tossing the Canned Egg; (3) Casting the Baked Bean; (4) javelin throwing with live sergeants as targets.

Take it from there, Army!

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

DEAR NEPHEW: This afternoon I printed me a little sign and hung it on the front door—Closed Till Tomorrow Morning for Repairs. Then I slipped a hunk of cheese out of the kitchen, put on my felt boots, whistled up the dog and struck off cross-country.

I was not in a mood for fishing and besides the river was too high, so I didn't take along any fishing tackle. I was fishing for something besides fish, you might say. It was the prettiest day we have had so far this year and I wanted to make the most of it.

I wanted to breathe a lot of fresh air. I wanted to let fresh air circulate through my head, too, so to speak, and no wise cracks, sonny. I wanted to stretch my legs and feast my eyes on the one thing that is always perfect—the way it looks when God's in his heaven and all's right with the world.

Maybe you could say it better, but I wanted to get away from too many radio commentators and newspaper columnists and peddlers of misery and worry. I wanted to get away from money-grabbing, coupon-stretching, bargain hunting and self-seeking. In the words of the Bible, I wanted to lift up mine eyes unto the hills from whence comes my strength, if I have the right words for that great quotation.

Whenever I got tired, I would sit down on a dry stump, or maybe just lean up in a fence corner for a few minutes and drink in the scenery. Talk about your vitamins—I've taken a bushel of patent vitamins, but the kind I needed were right there in the scenery and the feel of the warm earth under my feet.

They were the birds and the buds on the trees, the new grass, the lambs in the pastures and the litters of little pigs in the barnyards. They were in the wood lots, the meadows and the fields. Plowing has been held back in this part of the country by the rain, but the farmers are making the most of the change in the weather. I knew they were too busy, too, so I just waved and kept walking.

I dropped by the swimming hole where you used to go swimming and that place where we always have pretty good luck with the fishing. I saw the big beech tree where you carved your initials when you were 14. They are still there. I went by the little valley where we always go for picnics and the place in the grove where the tornado laid down all the trees that time.

When I got a little hungry, I ate the cheese and crackers and drank from the spring back of Frank Weller's place. About 5:30 I started home and got there just in time for supper. Your aunt had seen the sign and figured where I was. Maybe I should have waited until she could go along, but it was me that needed the repairs, not her. Tonight, for the first time in months, I'm at peace with the world again and tired as the dog. He's asleep and I am going to go and do likewise. Tomorrow I'll be up and at 'em, but this afternoon was all mine. Write soon, but don't try to confuse me. Right now, all evidence to the contrary notwithstanding, I am happily unconfused and intend to stay that way as long as possible. This is a fine world and don't let any chowderheads tell you different.

Hints On Ironing Shirts For Men Given By Expert

By ELEANOR ROSS
King Features Syndicate Writer

LET'S take up the ironing session with hints on ironing shirts. Since so many of us are doing all our laundry at home these days, some hints on ironing men's shirts should be mighty useful. Even if the laundry does go out, it would be good to be an expert at this chore in the event that a fresh shirt is needed quickly.

Be sure that shirts are starched correctly and dampened evenly. Then iron in this order: wrong side of yoke and collar, right side of yoke and collar, cuffs, sleeves, back, wrong side of each front along edge, then right side of front. Iron along both sides of row of buttons, then use point of iron between buttons. Give a final "touching up" to portions needing it, and fold collar.

Hanging Up Shirts

If there is sufficient closet room, you can save time and avoid wrinkling garments by hanging the shirts on coat-hangers. Button top button. If shirts are to be put away folded, place on hangers until completely dry, then fold carefully. Begin by placing shirts, front side up, on table, and button top, middle and bottom buttons.

Place front side down and fold each side of shirt over, lengthwise, for about one-fourth of width. Fold one sleeve along back lengthwise, then fold other sleeve on top of it. Fold up the tail of the shirt about 7 to 9 inches, then fold again, bringing the bottom fold up to the collar. Pin to shoulder yoke at both upper corners. Incidentally, this is a swell way to pack blouses. They should emerge from suitcase with never a wrinkle.

Ironing Fine Fabrics

When ironing fine fabrics follow directions on tags for labels: Light-weight muslin, fine cheesecloth or sateen makes a good pressing cloth. Most rayon or silk fabrics should be ironed while still slightly damp, but rough-surfaced fabrics such as spun rayons may be ironed on the wrong side when dry or almost dry.

Some rayons water-spot even after they have been washed. This may be avoided by ironing rayons before completely dry, instead of drying first then sprinkling. Use moderate to low heat for rayons. Too much heat weakens them. Special care should be taken when ironing acetate rayon since a hot iron causes this type of rayon to melt.

Test Heat Of Iron

Test the heat of the iron on the edge of the inside seam. Iron rayons and silks on wrong side. Touch up as needed on right side, but use a pressing cloth to avoid shine. Shape crepe garments while pressing to bring them back to the original measurements which should be taken before garment is washed.

Press woolen garments on the wrong or the right side, using a slightly damped pressing cloth and a moderate iron. Do not push the iron backwards and forwards over the fabric. To avoid flattening the wool, lift iron from one area to another. Remove pressing cloth while fabric is still steaming and brush garment with clothes brush to raise nap and to remove any marks that may occur on pocket-edges or seams. Hang on dress hanger to dry completely.

WARD FIGHT

officials and the head of the troops, reiterated his contention that the proceedings were without legal authority.

A company spokesman, who asked to remain anonymous, later said the management did not recognize the legality of the seizure.

"Mr. Avery just went home at the end of his business day," the spokesmen said in commenting on the chief executive officer leaving the plant after arrival of the troops.

"It does not mean he recognizes the government is now in possession of the company's properties."

A meeting of the board of directors is scheduled for tomorrow but it was not announced whether it will be held.

Biddle earlier said in an opinion prepared for President Roosevelt that the President based his right to seize the plant on the powers and authority granted the President under the Constitution and laws of the country.

Troops Called In

The government, in several labor cases between company and union, has taken over war plants when settlement failed.

Avery's initial refusal to obey the President's order came when Taylor and Ugo Carusi, executive assistant to Atty. Gen. Biddle, presented to him the chief executive's order.

After conferring by telephone with Secretary Jones, they returned later, with Federal Marshal William McDonnell and 11 deputies. But again the 69-year-old Avery, head of the vast merchandising establishment since 1931, challenged their authority.

Instructed not to use force to take possession, the federal officials took another method of fulfilling their orders and troops were called in from nearby Camp Skokie Valley.

There was no untoward incident at the plant upon arrival of the troops, numbering about 35. A few boos and some cheers came from a crowd of 1,500 assembled in the street.

Avery's labor disputes with the President and the CIO extends over a two-year period and the current controversy follows a 12-day strike by an undetermined number of employes in the mail order division.

At the request of President Roosevelt, Avery in December, 1942, signed the original contract with the union, the United Mail Order, Warehouse and Retail Employes.

At expiration last Dec. 8, the management contended the CIO no longer represented a majority of the employes.

The WLB's order that the company continue the contract pending an election was rejected and last April 12 the CIO unionists went out on strike. However, they returned Tuesday, acceding to President Roosevelt's request.

Henry B. Anderson, president of local 20 of the CIO union, said in a statement last night that "our union considers the action of President Roosevelt a decisive defeat for those reactionary industrialists who had hopes of using the war emergency as a means of destroying those governmental agencies set up to maintain and preserve order by democratic processes.

"Now that a new management is at the head of Montgomery Ward, our membership extends to it our offer of full cooperation so that industrial peace may prevail and all of us can get on with the job of defeating the Axis enemies abroad."

LEGISLATURE

only for president, U. S. senator and congressmen.

The complete ballot, the governor told the legislature, makes possible greater participation in representative government.

"The foundation of our American system," he said, "is not the federal government—necessary and important though it be. The foundation of our American system is state and local government."

Bricker added that "it is just as important that our young men and women in the various services vote the state ballot in wartime as in peacetime. In some respects it is even more important."

The administration's bill is applicable only to the Nov. 7 general election and its essential feature is the extending from 30 days to 90 days the time in which members of the armed forces can apply for a ballot, mark their preference for candidates and return the ballot to county election boards.

Such ballots received by the boards before noon election day shall be counted. The present law requires absentee ballots to be in four days before election.

The proposed legislation, phrased to apply to electors "in and with the armed forces and merchant marine," thereby embraces members of organizations such as the Red Cross, United Service Organizations, Society of Friends and Women's Auxiliary Service pilots who are in contact with the armed services.

Ohioans in the armed services of Allied nations also would be covered by the bill.

Close relatives of absentee soldiers and sailors would be permitted to apply for a ballot in their behalf. Democrats introduced bills to authorize any interested person to apply for a ballot in behalf of a soldier.

The administration measure was expanded to include local option elections at the insistence of legislators who recalled how national prohibition was adopted in 1918 while millions of American men were abroad and unable to vote.

The bill, besides extending from 30 days to 90 the period in which absentees can vote on local option issues, also specifies that such questions may be put to vote on only one day this year—Nov. 7.

Rep. William F. Eirick (R) of Cuyahoga county, offered a measure proposing that the presidential and state tickets be listed on one ballot.

They were separated four years ago at Bricker's request. Eirick's proposal was not mentioned in the governor's call for the special session.

C. H. Hoopes Claimed At 67 At Home In Kensington

Special To The Review.

KENSINGTON, April 27—Charles H. Hoopes, 67, widely known school figure and former assistant Columbiana county school superintendent, died at 7:30 a. m. Wednesday from a three year illness at his home in Kensington. The immediate cause was a cerebral hemorrhage.

A teacher in rural and grade schools for many years, he was serving as superintendent of Kensington schools in March, 1941, when illness forced his retirement. He had served as New Waterford and Salineville school superintendent as well as assistant cashier and cashier of the Kensington State bank.

He was born in Augusta township, Carroll county, Feb. 21, 1877, a son of William and Eliza Hoopes and resided in Columbiana county for 25 years. He was a member of the Kensington Christian church and Sandy Valley Masonic lodge 408, of Hanoverton.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Alice Hoopes; two daughters, Mrs. Erma Fox of Dellroy, O., and Mrs. Mary Leatherberry of Augusta; two sons, Edgar Hoopes of Pittsburgh and Seaman Charles Robert Hoopes of San Diego; his mother, Mrs. Eliza Hoopes of Kensington; two sisters, Mrs. Bertha Kibler of Kensington and Mrs. Mary Crawford of Canton, and six grandchildren.

Services will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. from the Kensington Christian church by Rev. Howard Miller of Martins Ferry, a former pastor. Burial will be in Grove Hill cemetery.

Masons will hold services at 8 p. m. Friday in the Maple funeral home and friends may call there from 7 to 9 p. m. Friday, and Saturday from 7 to 9 p. m. in the Hoopes home.

DEATH TAKES FORMER FAIR BOARD OFFICIAL

Rites For H. E. Marsden, 56, Will Be Held Saturday

Special To The Review.

LISBON, April 27—Harry Edward Marsden, business leader and prominent Lisbon resident, died Wednesday afternoon in the Jamison hospital in New Castle, following a two weeks' illness.

Mr. Marsden had been in failing health from a heart ailment for the past two years. He was 56.

He was born in Lisbon, Dec. 5, 1887, a son of Job and Lavina Marsden, and spent his lifetime here. He was engaged in the real estate and insurance business for about 30 years, having been a partner with Jay Moore in the Marsden and Moore agency before he formed his own business.

For many years Mr. Marsden was active in the Columbiana County Agricultural society, which conducts the annual Lisbon fair. He was secretary of the society until about three years ago when forced to retire because of ill health. He also was an active member of the Methodist church.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Inez Wilson Marsden; one daughter, Miss Inez Marsden, at home, and his step-mother, Mrs. Ella Marsden, also of Lisbon.

Services will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. in the late home at 871 North Market st., by Rev. C. L. Cope, pastor of the Methodist church, assisted by Rev. D. E. Scott of Bedford, former pastor. Burial will be in the Lisbon cemetery.

Friends may call Friday afternoon or night at the family home.

WLB

partment of justice, has resisted a court test for the same reasons the board opposed a provision for court review in the war labor disputes act.

In the U. S. Gypsum case, the government's legal position is that the court has no jurisdiction or authority to enjoin the war labor board because its decisions are merely declarations of equities and are not enforced by the board itself.

Temporary Agency

The government thus takes recourse in the virtual improbability that the courts will attempt to enjoin the President.

In addition, the government argues that the legislative history of the war labor disputes act shows congress considered court review to the extent of writing it into the bill and then withdrawing it.

The theory behind creation of the war labor board is that it was intended to be a wartime substitute for strikes and lockouts.

The government's position is that the board and the authority under which it operates is as temporary as the emergency and that it has no permanent statute to police, like that of the national labor relations board.

Test cases under the Wagner act averaged about 11 months. It is contended that if the WLB must submit to tests of that duration its effectiveness as an arbiter of emergency disputes would be nullified.

COURT ORDERS SQUIRE TO STAY IN BAILIWICK

Special To The Review.

NEW CUMBERLAND, April 27—A jurisdictional controversy regarding the practices of justices of peace beyond their elected districts ended Wednesday in Hancock county circuit court when Judge J. H. Brennan enjoined J. H. Beatty, Clay district squire, performing duties in the Butler district.

The ruling followed an injunction action filed by J. B. Camilli, Butler district squire, to prohibit Squire Beatty from practicing in the former's district.

Both men are seeking re-nominations in the May 9 primaries. Squire Beatty is a Republican and the Butler district justice is a Democrat.

PACIFIC

Hollandia sector were slowed mainly by muddy jungle trails and swamps.

The only aerial retaliation by the Japanese reported thus far was a one-bomber raid on the Hollandia beach-head Sunday and a strike by 12 torpedo bombers at a destroyer off Hollandia Monday night. The warship escaped without damage.

Allied airmen kept the enemy off-balance by destroying 20 parked planes and shooting down three interceptors in a raid on Kamiri airdrome on Geelvink bay, 400 miles northwest of Hollandia.

Central Pacific headquarters announced a two-day aerial strike at Paramushiro, Matsuwa and Shumushu islands in the far-north Kuriles Sunday and Monday, a 36-ton bombing raid on Truk in the Carolines, another blow at Ponape, Truk's eastern guardian, and a 138-ton smash at four by-passed Japanese bases in the eastern Marshall islands.

Fund Of $1,100,000 Set Up For Physical Medicine By Baruch

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, April 27—Bernard M. Baruch Wednesday gave $1,100,000 to extend the oldest branch of the healing arts, physical medicine.

The Baruch committee on physical medicine, headed by Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur of Stanford university, recommended a nationwide scientific boost of this art, defined as use of light, heat, water, cold, electricity, massage, manipulation, exercise, spas, climatology and hydrology, the latter specializing in baths, sprays and the like.

"I am convinced," Baruch said, "that returning men and women now in the armed services will need the advantages of physical medicine, and I feel this program will help restore discharged soldiers to normal physical and mental condition.

"My interest has been heightened by my desire to do something for the 700,000 returning soldiers — men and women — every month, I want to do that something now, before I get older."

Baruch gave $400,000 to Columbia university College of Physicians and Surgeons for a key research and training center, particularly for returning veterans, to be spent over 10 years.

$250,000 to New York university College of Medicine, 10 years, for teaching and research in preventive and manipulation mechanics.

$250,000, Medical College of Virginia, Richmond, 10 years, for teaching and research in hydrology, climatology and spa therapy.

$100,000 to selected medical schools for an immediate program for war casualties.

$100,000 for fellowships and residencies.

Baruch said physical medicine "is a subject dear to me because of my father," Dr. Simon Baruch, a distinguished Conferedate army surgeon, who was a leader in physical medicine.

Before the war, Nazi Germany was producing synthetic gasoline from coal at the rate of ten million barrels a year.

ROOSEVELT DISAGREES WITH CLERGY ON RAIDS

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 27—President Roosevelt disagrees with the views of 28 clergymen and writers who protested last month against "obliteration bombing" of enemy-occupied countries or Europe, a letter written by his secretary disclosed Wednesday.

The clergymen's protest was published in last month's issue of Fellowship, monthly publication of the Fellowship Reconciliation.

In the current issue Secretary Stephen Early replied that President Roosevelt "is sorry he cannot agree either with the 'facts' or with the conclusions" of the protest.

"Obviously the President is just as much disturbed and horrified by the destruction of life in this war as any member of the committee. Thousands of people not in uniform have been killed.

"The easiest way to prevent many others from being killed is to use every effort to compel the Germans and Japanese to change their philosophy," Early wrote.

"That philosophy has nothing of Christianity in it."

More supplies are now being flown into China than ever were trucked in over the Burma road.

Our First Inductees

RELATIVES tell the whereabouts of East Liverpool's first draft contingent of two men—comprised of Cpl. Richard Warren Wright and S/Sgt. Raymond E. Boyd. They were sworn in at a reception center on Nov. 27, 1940.

Cpl. Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burr Wright of 728 Lincoln ave., was assigned to the transport division at Ft. Knox, Ky., and after completing his training was sent to Australia nearly two years ago, where he has been stationed ever since.

Sgt. Boyd who recently concluded a furlough with his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Brown, 1630 Pennsylvania ave., is a mess sergeant of a cannon company in an infantry division at Camp Breckinridge, Ky. He formerly was at Ft. Custer, Mich., and later was assigned to a series of trains transporting army units across the country. On these trips, he was a mess sergeant.

AN East Liverpool bandsman is conducting the eastern personnel reassignment center band at Camp Butner, N. C., in relative "peace and quiet" after serving nearly 18 months in North Africa, where he formed one of the first military music organizations in the overseas forces and waved his baton through several "command" performances before "big-timers" in that former war front.

He is M/Sgt. Howard Mark Cochrane, son of Howard H. Cochrane of 1130 Vine st. Termed a "veteran maestro," he formed the 310th infantry band in Casablanca and remained with them a year and a half. His band gave performances before such notables as Gen. Mark W. Clark, Gen. Henri Giraud and Gen. Charles De Gaulle and the Sultan of Morocco.

Sgt. Cochrane received his bachelor of science degree in music at the University of Kentucky and for two years he directed and produced a light concert program over stations WIAP and WHAS of the Mutual network.

He now is forming regular military musical organizations, including a drum and bugle corps, a military band and a dance combination at the army center.

Sgt. Cochrane's father, a former band leader and music teacher of Chester and Martins Ferry high schools, is recuperating at City hospital from an illness.

'Wolf Packs'

Male 'Clubs' Admit Girls Who Grant Intimacies

By The Associated Press.

SEATTLE, April 27—Sheriff Harlan S. Callahan estimated today that at least 74 arrests will be made as result of an investigation which uncovered "wolf packs" of young men and boys who admitted young girls to their membership on condition they permit intimacies with all male members of the groups.

Two federal housing projects near Seattle already have forced 100 young persons, most of them brought here from the midwest to work in war plants, to vacate as a result of the discovery of a series of orgies, Sheriff Callahan said.

One 17-year-old brunet said she joined one of the "wolf packs", as the "members" called their groups, Jan. 1 and since then has been intimate with 13 of the men, Sheriff Callahan reported.

Fifteen of the young men arrested thus far have been charged with contributing to the delinquency of minors and several older men and women arrested were charged with furnishing liquor to minors.

While the investigation centered in the housing projects, Cap. Jack Best of the sheriff's office said the parties in many instances have extended to the rear seats of automobiles, taxi-cabs, cemeteries and the grandstand of the nearby Longacres race track.

"Many of the youngsters were about to be inducted into the service and said they were having one last fling with no regard for law, order or decency," Best said.

Two 15-year-old girls, held by authorities, exposed the operations of the gangs, Best related. Four girls, 15 to 17, have been turned over to juvenile authorities, he added.

Three persons were charged in connection with the case Wednesday in the court of Justice of the Peace J. E. McFarland.

Fifteen youths were named in complaints and will be questioned by deputy prosecutors.

Renton Police Chief Vincent Stewart said five former convicts were found among tenants of the two housing projects where the 100 young persons were evicted. He said he has moved for revocation of their paroles.

"These 'party' boys and girls, ranging from 16 to 21 years," Stewart said, "were imported by the government to work in our war plants. Many of them lived in Cedar Park (one of the housing projects) without parents or proper supervision.

"Theoretically they were segregated, but they connived to get together."

"Apparently this so-called wolf gang could get all the beer, wine and whisky it wanted," Capt. Best said. "We have signed statements in which members name the various places in which they bought drinks.

"Cab drivers, we are informed, were bootlegging liquor to them for $7 a pint and $14 a quart. These kids were all working and had plenty of money."

WASHINGTON, April 27—Civilians will get more and better ice cream during May and June.

Lee Marshall, director of the war food administration's office of distribution, disclosed Wednesday that manufacturers' quotas for ice cream and other frozen dairy products will be increased from 65 to 75 percent.

In addition, changes were made to permit a richer ice cream mix.

HEALTH BOARD ACTS AGAIN TO EXTEND SEWER

Another Request Filed With Council; Dog Situation In City Is 'Unimproved'

The board of health Wednesday night filed another urgent request with city council for the extension of the sanitary sewer system for Hazel alley in the Klondyke district of East End, to correct conditions described as "most unsanitary".

The action followed a complaint filed with the department about a month ago by William Clutter of 2110 Hazel alley, who asserts that the alley is a "health menace" because of stagnant water from outside vaults and kitchen sinks.

Sanitary Inspector D. J. McKeever, who was instructed to investigate, reported that only three of the houses in the alley are in a position to connect with the sewer.

One Home Unoccupied

One of these houses, he asserted, was empty while the owner of another said that he is eager to connect with the sewer as soon as plumbing materials are available.

Mr. McKeever said that the source of the complaint, however, is from homes located in that part of the alley where no sewer existed. He asserted that if the trunk sewer is extended for a distance of about 100 yards it will be available to several properties.

The health board called council's attention to the situation last July but no action was taken. The construction of the sewer would cost the city nothing as the expense is assessed against the properties benefited by the improvement.

The department also approved the application of City hospital to conduct a maternity department. This application must be renewed each year and must have the approval not only of the health board but of the state division of factories and public buildings. The maternity department at the hospital has accommodations for 17 babies and more can be handled in cases of an emergency.

W. J. Bamer, a member of the board, said that the owners of property on the east side of St. Clair ave., north of Mayberry lane, had offered to give the city right-of-way for the construction of a sanitary sewer line which would provide sewer facilities to new homes on Manor, Midway and Cain sts. The present sewer on the west side of St. Clair ave. cannot be utilized by the property on the east side of the street, Mr. Bamer said.

Dr. Charles Gerace, city health commissioner, advised the board that the dog situation in East Liverpool is "unimproved", despite the agitation for correction of the complaint in recent months. He asserted that rabid dogs here are being discovered almost every day and that the list of persons making application for Pasteur treatments is growing correspondingly.

He also reported three cases of scarlet fever have been quarantined in the city. Other contagious diseases which have been reported to the health board recently are two of chicken-pox and three of measles.

At the request of Dr. Gerace, the monthly meeting of the board was changed from the last Wednesday of each month to the last Tuesday, beginning in June. The last Tuesday in May falls on Memorial day.

Dr. K. C. Willis, chairman, presided at last night's meeting. In attendance were Mr. Bamer, J. D. Bennett and I. A. Hoffman.

Hammocks were invented by Indians in the Amazon basin.

FARM VEHICLE DRAFT SEEN AS HARVEST AID

By The Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, April 27 — A cooperative plan insuring full utilization of every available farm motor vehicle has been drafted by office of defense transportation officials and war food representatives.

A three-point program formulated at a conference Tuesday calls for requisitioning of idle motor trucks within a particular area, diversion of motor vehicles from their current uses for the time necessary to move perishable crops, and if necessary, to bring in trucks from localities where a surplus exists or from areas where crops already have been harvested.

Operation of the plan will be left to voluntary industry transportation communities cooperating with county farm transportation groups working under ODT, Robert A. Hicks, chief of the ODT farm vehicle section, said.

EXTRA GAS PROMISED TO SOME OHIO VOTERS

By The Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, April 27 — Even gasoline rationing will step aside for the great American game of politics, the office of price administration promised Wednesday in announcing that special rations may be issued for carrying voters to primary and general election polls in northern and central Ohio.

The district OPA said, however, the test of "alternative means of transportation" would be applied by ration boards to each request for special rations.

Among those eligible to apply for extra gasoline, the OPA listed "bonafide candidates for public office, provided it is essential to their candidacy; duly appointed election officials or poll watchers" and persons transporting voters to and from the polls.

WELLSVILLE WARNED ANEW IN BAN ON DOGS

One Animal Is Found Rabid; Report Due On Another

Dog owners of Wellsville are reminded by Police Chief H. R. Dustman to keep their pets confined to their own premises since the ban on stray dogs still is in force.

Authorities are awaiting a report from Columbus on the head of a large police dog belonging to Frank Lyle, 1627 Commerce st., as to whether the animal had rabies. The dog was shot by Deputy Dog Warden A. L. Newton Tuesday morning because it was acting strangely and had scratched the hand of its owner.

Word has been received from the state health department that the head of the small white dog which died in the city pound a week ago showed definite signs of rabies. The stray animal had been picked up at 22nd st. and Clark ave. and placed in the city pound. It was known to have bitten several dogs in the west end of the city.

Chief Dustman said dog owners are becoming careless about allowing their pets to run loose on the streets and he warned against such a practice. The ban includes any domestic animal.

By JAMES D. WHITE

WASHINGTON — Young men between 26 and, say, 29, can't tell these days whether the draft is blowing their way or not. The selective service system is in another period of change, entering its third phase so far. These phases have been:

1.—The period when dependency was the standard.

2.—The "essentiality" era.

3.—The current phase, when age determines, largely, whether a man will be drafted.

Emphasis On Youth

The changing needs of global war lie behind these sweeps of policy. Right now the armed forces want young men to replace older men who may be killed, injured or mustered out because of age.

Hence the present emphasis on the 18-26 age group.

Before Pearl Harbor, the emphasis was largely upon dependency. A draft board had to decide whether a man's family needed him more than Uncle Sam. During this period the armed services increased from about a million to 2,300,000 men.

The second period came after Pearl Harbor, but gradually. Selective service built up the armed forces to 6,500,000 by the time it was placed under the war manpower commission in December, 1942, but after that the question became more and more a matter of how essential a man's work was to the war effort and vital civilian economy.

A definition of "essential" that satisfied everyone never was reached, however, and meanwhile uncertainty developed as to whether fathers should be drafted. After Pearl Harbor the age limit was changed from 21-28 to 21-45, later was cut back to 18-28 after it was decided to draft teen-agers.

The navy had been ordered to take its manpower from selective service instead of relying upon volunteers, and during 1943 higher manpower goals were announced by the armed forces at the same time that war production continued expanding.

Congress debated the drafting of fathers, and this had the effect of causing local draft boards to postpone inducting fathers. In the meantime, congress had legislated to defer essential farm workers, thus withholding a slice of several hundred thousand out of the prime manpower pool from the purely military standpoint.

Now comes the latest shift in policy — the emphasis on youth. The army announced April 6 that it had filled its manpower needs of 11,000,000 men (and would reach a peak of 11,300,000 by September) but would need replacements. Two days later it said exactly where it wanted to get these replacements —from the 18-26 age group.

Age Is The Standard

President Roosevelt had complained in February that too many young men were deferred. Induction tightened upon young men under 26, including farm workers, while those over 26 had their inductions indefinitely postponed by Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey.

Age is the standard upon which nearly all other countries base their draft systems. The usual reason given abroad is that the age-class system enables everyone to know when he'll be drafted and plan accordingly.

Here, however, the reason given by the army and navy is that they want the best combat replacements they can get, and that young men in the 18-26 racket make the best.

Some men over 26 still will be needed, it's indicated, but some time may elapse before policy is settled on that.

NEW WATERFORD

Mrs. Fred Hawkins entertained a group of friends Sunday at her home honoring the birthday anniversary of her husband. Dinner was served in the afternoon to guests including Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hawkins, C. E. Hawkins, Mrs. C. B. Williams, Miss Ruth Houser, Mrs. Mattie Barton and Harry and Robert Hawkins.

Mrs. Elinor Crowl left Tuesday to join her husband, Cpl. Charles Crowl, who is stationed at Charleston, S. C.

'Best Garden' Prizes Set Up For Palestine

District Victory Gardeners are making preparations to participate in the biggest program of backyard food raising ever launched in the history of America.

At East Palestine, George Reese has been named Victory Garden chairman, succeeding Clyde Davis, who served in 1943. This north county town is planning an ammitious effort and will seek 10 percent more gardens than the 643 planted in 1943.

As an incentive, the East Palestine committee is offering two sets of prizes, Mr. Reese said. The winner in the adult class will receive a $25 War Bond for the best-kept garden, while second and third prizes will consist of $10 and $5 in War Stamps. To be eligible for a prize, each garden must have a minimum space of 1,000 square feet.

In the juvenile class, all gardeners of 16 or younger will receive $7 in War Stamps for the first prize, $5 and $3 for second and third awards.

Entries can be filed on or before June 1 with the gardener's precinct Victory Garden committee member, Mr. Reese said. The judges of the town's best gardens will be supplied by the Kiwanis club.

At Chester, Mayor DeMar Miller, said it is not possible for that city to follow a given Victory Garden program with a chairman to direct the activities.

"There are few pieces of ground big enough in Chester for community gardens," he pointed out.

"Individuals are planning to utilize single lots or their backyards for the purpose, as it has been a regular procedure with the majority of them for years, we do not feel the need for a supervisor."

However, he pointed out, if any resident or land owner of Chester has an unused lot and wishes to see it used as a Victory Garden, the mayor will register their names and pass along the information to "responsible persons who are sincere in their determination to grow food this year."

A bomber can carry 1,500 magnesium incendiaries, the War Department reports.

CHANGE MADE IN SALE OF AUTO TAX STAMPS

Postmaster Ralph C. Benedum today was notified by the postoffice department that arrangements have been made to discontinue the sale in postoffices on and after June 1 of the monthly part-year issues of the federal motor vehicle tax stamps.

Postmaster Benedum said that the July, 1944, issue of $5 stamps will remain on sale in first class and county seat postoffices throughout the year.

After July 31 applicants who desire to purchase monthly issues of the stickers may secure them from the local collector of internal revenue in the basement of the Broadway postoffice at the following rates:

$4.59 for August, $4.17 for September, $3.75 for October, $3.34 for November, $2.92 for December, $2.50 for January, $2.09 for February, $1.67 for March, $1.25 for April, $0.84 for May, and $0.42 for June.

CLARKSON

A spelling bee will feature the meeting of the Clarkson community club to be held Friday at 8 p. m. in the schoolhouse. Raymond Watson will serve as entertainment committee chairman. The business will be directed by Morris Swaney, president. Refreshments will be served by Mrs. Clyde Welce, Mrs. Swaney and Mrs. John Millington.

Miss Helen Lunger is visiting her brother, Ruben Lunger, who is a patient in Mercy hospital, Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Sarah Walters has concluded a visit with relatives in East Fairfield.

PRICE CONTROL PLANS SUPPORTED BY VINSON

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 27—Stabilization Dircetor Fred M. Vinson said Wednesday "price control is a proven success" and added the administration intends to stick by its food price subsidies and its formula for holding down wages.

Vinson, appearing before the senate banking committee in behalf of legislation to extend the price control act, testified that business, labor, farmers and landlords all have prospered but that inflation at the same time has been prevented.

MAYER RETAINS TITLE OF BEST PAID OFFICIAL

By The Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, April 27—Louis B. Mayer, who rose from a small-time theater operator to one of the nation's leading movie producers, earned $1,138,992 during the 1943 fiscal year to retain his title as America's highest paid executive for the 10th consecutive year. His 1942 salary was $949,765.84, the securities and exchange commission announced Tuesday.

The salary statement said of the total paid by Loew's, Inc., to Mayer as managing director of production, $242,226.63 "remains presently unpaid pending further discussion with the salary stabilization unit of the treasury department."

NEWELL TOPS CHESTER IN LEAGUE BATTLE, 6-3

Franczek Scatters Seven Hits, Mates Bunch Four Runs In First Frame To Clinch Hancock County Tilt; Weirton Rips New Cumberland Nine, 19-2

Ole Sol was beaming down Wednesday afternoon and rival coaches, Max Tuttle of Chester and John Robnson of Newell, decided to take advantage of the first real day for baseball rather than gamble on Friday to be the same when the regular Hancock league game was scheduled.

Pete Franczek scattered seven Chester bingles as his mates bunched enough safeties in the first inning to notch their third straight win, a 6-to-3 triumph. Bill Milby was the victim of a four-run uprising by the Wells High stickers in the first frame to keep the Big Green's record spotless.

Franczek's Second Win

It was Franczek's second victory, and the youthful righthander set 11 Chester batsmen down via the strikeout route. His control was flawless. Milby gave way to Tom Rector in the third after being touched for five hits and five runs. Rector fanned the first four Newell hitters to face him and limited the Robinson-coached nine to three hits the remainder of the way. He whiffed seven during the four innings.

Meantime, the Red Riders of Weirton were having a field day at the expense of the Blue Raiders at New Cumberland, pounding four hurlers for a 19-to-2 victory, the second of the season over Coach Bob Roach's nine.

Playing at Newell, Chester tallied once in the opening frame. Donza Graham was safe on an error, stole second and scored on Bob Miller's single. But Newell bounced back to send four runs over the plate.

Cox Hits Triple

Don Railing, first up, worked Milby for a walk. He pilfered second and scored on Bob McDevitt's first of two singles. After Sam Laneve forced McDevitt at second, Pete Woznick lashed out a single. Both runners scampered home on Keith Cox booming triple. Cox also scored on an infield out.

With two down in the second, Railing singled, stole second and scored on McDevitt's second bingle.

Rector replaced Milby in the box for Chester at the outset of the third and set the Newell swatters down in order on strikes.

In the Chester half of the fifth, Milby, who had retired to an outfield berth, doubled and came home on Bill McHenry's base hit. Newell, however, matched the effort in the bottom half of the inning.

With two gone, Woznick hammered out a two-bagger, his second hit, and Cox brought him in with a single, his second safety.

Bill Conkle opened the seventh with his second hit, advanced on a Newell miscue and scored on McHenry's second single.

SKYTRACER IS WINNER IN BLUE GRASS STAKES

By The Associated Press.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 27—Stir Up, the winter book favorite of Greentree stables, again may find Skytracer, whom he had a hard time beating in Florida, a formidable rival in the May 6 Kentucky derby.

Skytracer sent his stock soaring yesterday with a three-length victory over Challenge Me, Arkansas derby winner, in the $10,000 added Blue Grass stakes at Churchill Downs.

Eight derby eligibles ran in the Blue Grass stakes, but only the first four—Skytracer, Challenge Me, Alorter and Shut Up—are expected to show up at the derby starting gate.

The probable starters after yesterday's feature at the downs, and approximate odds, are:

Stir Up, 8 to 5; Challenge Me, 5 to 1; Pensive, 5 to 1; Pukka Gin, 8 to 1; Skytracer, 10 to 1; Lucky Draw, 10 to 1; Stymie, 12 to 1; Twilight Tear, 15 to 1; Bell Buzzer, 15 to 1; Autocrat, 20 to 1; Alorter, 20 to 1; Gramps Image, 20 to 1; Director J. E., 20 to 1; Shut Up, 25 to 1; Broad Grin, 25 to 1; Gay Bit, 25 to 1; Broadcloth, 30 to 1; Valley Flares, 30 to 1; American Eagle, 50 to 1, and Kope Kona, 50 to 1.

Browns' Pace Tags 'Em For Second Place

Stop Indians, 5-2, To Tie Yankees' 1933 Streak

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

At the rate those unbeaten St. Louis Browns are going they're likely to finish second in the American league. Nobody's out in front of them or even close behind, but old man precedent says they can't win the pennant.

When the Brownies stopped Cleveland, 5-2, yesterday they tied the Yankee's 1933 league record for most consecutive games won at the start of a season, with seven. However, the New Yorkers of that happy April 11 years ago wound up seven games behind Washington in October.

Nine is the modern high mark in the National but the co-holders, the New York Giants of 1918 and the Brooklyn Dodgers of 1940, were only second place also-rans to the Chicago Cubs and Cincinnati Reds, respectively.

These figures probably weren't worrying Luke Sewell a bit after Steve Sundra's second victory. Though touched for 10 hits, Sundra pitched shutout ball until after the Browns' four-run sixth inning uprising, marked by Don Gutteridge's triple and Vernon Stephens' two-run double.

Hank Borowy also joined the ranks of two-time winners as the Yankees squared the series with Philadelphia, 6-2. He now has won nine successive league games since last August 10 in addition to one world series and two exhibition triumphs. Hank allowed 11 hits, but Nick Etten thumped the A's into submission with a two-run homer, a double and single.

Early Wynn and Gil Torres took the bows in Washington's 2-to-1 edge over Boston. Wynn allowed only six singles in hanging up win No. 2 and Torres, the Cuban third baseman, rapped out a double and single, driving in both runs scored off Yank Terry.

Bucky Walters knows now that Cincinnati can score, but he might have been inclined to doubt it after pitching 21 innings over a two-game stretch during which the Reds did not cross home plate. Frank McCormick finally broke it up with a 13th inning home run, giving Cincinnati and Walters a 1-to-0 nod over Rookie Alvin Jurisich of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Vince DiMaggio kept the old family name in the headlines by collecting a home run with two men on and a double in Pittsburgh's 6-to-1 pummeling of Chicago. Preacher Roe coasted in with a seven-hitter after a five-run spurt in the sixth.

Detroit-Chicago in the American and Brooklyn-Boston in the National were postponed because of cold and rain. The Giants and Phils were not scheduled.

Frank McCormick, Reds—Belted 13th inning homer to give Bucky Walters 1-to-0 verdict over Cardinals.

Preacher Roe, Pirates—Turned back Cubs with seven hits in scoring 6-to-1 decision with help of Vince DiMaggio's homer and double.

Nick Etten, Yankees—Combed Lum Harris for two-run homer, single and double in 6-to-2 New York triumph over A's.

Early Wynn, Senators—Made it two straight by whipping Boston, 2-1, allowing only six singles.

Vernon Stephens, Browns—Doubled two big runs home in four-run sixth inning as St. Louis made it seven straight.

Feller, Busy Pitching Strikes At Japs, 'Will Be Back In '45'

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 27—"Will be back with you before the 1945 season gets far under way."

That's what Bob Feller, the Cleveland Indians' wonder boy pre-war pitcher and now a chief specialist in the navy, says in a letter to Lew Fonseca, American league motion picture director.

Feller, who entered the navy four days after Pearl Harbor, isn't finding much time for baseball, he told Fonseca, but pitched his navy team to a fleet baseball pennant last Christmas.

"Operations are beyond the scene of athletic activity now," wrote the 25-year-old Van Meter, Ia., pitcher who won 107 games for Cleveland from late in 1936 until the close of the '41 campaign. He is serving in an anti-aircraft gun unit aboard one of Uncle Sam's battleships.

Bullet Bob, the letter indicated, is anxious to return and get back into the baseball campaign when his present job is over. It's quite difficult to remain in condition, as continuous operations keep us on our toes and sleep is about all we have time for now, but we have played many exhibition games around the globe."

Feller, who wants to borrow the American league's 1943 baseball movie for his service buddies, told Fonseca "it will be shown on board ship to 75 or 100,000 young men" who would "nearly eat it up." He stressed the fact that no other entertainment is available—"not even a shore to walk around on while in port."

ATHENS, O., April 27—Ohio State staged a four-run rally in the eighth inning to defeat Ohio university, 5-2, yesterday. The Bobcats scored two in the second. Ohio State added its final run in the ninth. The Bucks outhit the Bobcats, 8-5.

REDS' WALTERS WINS FIRST OF '44 SEASON

By The Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, April 27—Bucky Walters is off the night shift at last.

The big Cincinnati pitcher abandoned his owl-like tendencies in winning a 1-to-0 verdict over the St. Louis Cardinals in 13 innings yesterday. It was his first victory of the 1944 season but, perhaps more important, it was his first win in daylight at Crosley field since late in the 1942 campaign. Concentrating on night home-work last season, Bucky won eight of nine starts under the Crosley field lights.

One loose ball, released by Alvin Jurispch of the Cards, spelled sweet victory to Walters. The loose one wandered into the neighborhood of Frank McCormick at the tail end of the 13th inning, and McCormick promptly slammed it over the fence.

Until then the teams had put in a lot of time for nothing, though the Reds muffed four scoring opportunities and the Cards slipped up in the 12th when Kenny O'Dea singled to open the inning, then was left stranded.

Production of manufactured goods in Brazil increased ten times between 1911 and 1938.

INDIANS BEATEN BY BROWNS, 5-2

Embree To Make Start For Tribe; Potter Is Foe

By The Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, April 27—From all indications the Cleveland Indians won't win the spring pennant this year—and it may be a good sign.

In past seasons the Tribe has broken from the barrier to outdistance the field and then faltered miserably in the stretch. Today the club is in last place with a record of only one triumph in six engagements.

St. Louis Ties Record

The rampaging St. Louis Browns, who lead the American league with seven wins in as many starts, handed the Indians their latest loss yesterday by a 5-to-2 count. The victory tied the junior circuit mark established by the New York Yankees back in 1933, when they won the first seven games of the season.

Allie Reynolds, who has twirled Cleveland's only win of the season, was the Brown's victim. Reynolds allowed only five hits in the six innings he pitched, but four of them were bunched with a base on balls in the sixth to produce four of the St. Louis runs. The other tally was made off Hal Kleinen in the seventh.

The Indians touched Steve Sundra for 10 hits, but were able to group them effectively only in the eighth, when three singles and a double produced both thier runs.

Boudreau Keeps .400 Clip

Manager Lou Boudreau kept his batting average above .400 by swatting Sundra for a single in the eighth. Charlie "Red" Embree will make his first appearance in organized baseball since 1942 when he started for the Tribe in the series finale today. Nelson Potter is his opponent.

Three Years Ago American Motorists Started An
80,000,000-MILE ROAD TEST
OF SYNTHETIC RUBBER

The first passenger car tires made with synthetic rubber ever to be sold to the public were announced 3 years ago by B. F. Goodrich—the Ameripol Silvertowns. In these tires over half the natural rubber was replaced by the B. F. Goodrich synthetic, Ameripol. The result was the greatest road test of passenger car tires in history . . . a test that totaled 80,000,000 miles.

The experience gained from this test has given B. F. Goodrich vital help in making today's tires . . . tires in which 99% of the natural rubber has been replaced with the government's "GR-S" synthetic.

But remember—there is still a rubber shortage. And every patriotic American must continue to drive carefully, and to get every possible mile from his present tires. Wasting rubber wastes America's strength.

'Y' Grade School Mibs Play Under Way; 600 Are Entered

The annual grade school marbles tournament, sponsored annually by the Y.M.C.A., is under way, with some 600 boys and girls registered for the 1944 event.

The tournament is open to all boys and girls living in East Liverpool, Chester and Newell provided they are pupils in the fifth, sixth, seventh or eighth grades. It is free to every contestant, and the champion will be awarded a trophy.

Each school will select its own champion through an elimination tourney, and the champions of each school will be awarded a school champion emblem. Following the selection of the school champions the winners will be brought together to battle for the "champion of champions", the winner to receive the championship trophy, while the runner-up will be given a "Y" emblem.

Principals of the various schools will appoint supervisors who will conduct the eleminations within their schools. Bracket sheets, rules and regulations governing play will be furnished supervisors and pairings will be drawn up by them. Contestants will not be permitted to use "steelies" or old-fashioned commies in play.

Four schools already have appointed their supervisors: Cliff Reil for Washington, John Stephenson at Pleasant Heights, Mrs. Ruth Fraser and H. D. Rist at Glenmoor and Lew W. Hannen of Chester Central.

Silas Clay Gets Mad at Women's Hats

Silas Clay is complaining that his wife's new hat cost more than a bull calf. "And I wouldn't mind it, if it was a hat," he says, "but all it is, is a small bow and a piece of feather."

"It isn't the size of the hat that counts," says Bivon Earp, reproachfully.

"Well, what is it that counts?" asks Si, exasperated.

"I'll tell you what it is that counts," says Doc. "It's the lift that a new hat gives to any woman. It sort of picks up their spirits . . . boosts morale. Little things can do that. Like the flower in your buttonhole," he says to Silas, "or that glass of beer that you're enjoying."

From where I sit, Doc has given us a mighty good definition of morale. Important little things. A flower in your buttonhole . . . a kind word from a stranger . . . a mellow glass of beer with friends. Little things especially important in these days of strain.

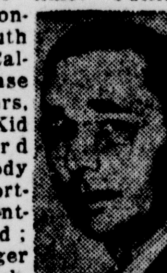
Sport Chatter

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 27—Ever hear of an all-star baseball team made up entirely of pitchers? Ernie Lanigan figured out one like that. Here they are, in their regular positions, and all guys who pitched in the majors at one time: Outfield—Turkey Mike Donlin, Babe Ruth and James J. Callahan; first base—Dan Brouthers, second base—Kid Gleason; third base — Rhody Wallace; shortstop—John Montgomery Ward; catcher — Roger Bresnahan; pitcher — take your pick, but how about old Tony Mullane, who passed away yesterday? Mullane not only was big league baseball's only ambidextrous pitcher, but one of 13 who won 300 games.



Mr. Fullerton

Practical attitude.

Fight fans at the Broadway arena Monday night were all excited when one preliminary boy punched another all over the ring and finally flattened him in the third round. But Nat Rogers, Mike Jacobs' matchmaker, didn't seem to share their enthusiasm. He just sat by the ringside when a beachcomber rushed up and asked: "There's a swell scrapper, ain't he Nat? "Yeh," grunted Rogers, "But he's a soldier, so what good is he to anyone?"

Shorts and shells.

Claude "Buddy" Young, Illinios U. sprinter, will try football next fall in a backfield that includes Eddie Bray and Eddie McGovern. It probably will be the lightest and fastest combination in the Big Ten. The first ball pitched this season in MacArthur stadium, home of the Syracuse International league ball club, has been sent to Gen. Douglas MacArthur. During the dragged-out pro football meetings last week, Mrs. Charles Bidwill, wife of the Chicago Cards' owner, passed the time playing gin rummy with Charley Murray, the Buffalo promoter. When Bidwill came out for a breather, Murray told him: "Your wife now owns the Buffalo franchise."

A rookie a day.

Joe Just, Cincinnati catcher—Joe handled such pitchers as Whit Wyatt and Joe Heving at Milwaukee in 1938, but while they were going up, he's had nothing but hard luck that culminated with a year's idleness last season. Rejected for service because of three brain concussions suffered on the ball field. Also suffered two broken thumbs within nine weeks at one time.

AT LAST!

BREWERS GRAB FIFTH STRAIGHT IN AA LOOP

By The Associated Press.

More than 30,000 fans watched home openers of four American Association baseball clubs yesterday, and 13,395 of them were at St. Paul, where the Milwaukee Brewers won their fifth straight game, 1-to-0, on Frank Secory's 10th-inning home run.

Owen Scheetz held St. Paul to six hits, running the Brewers string of scoreless innings for opponents to 28. The contest was continued under protest after the sixth inning, when Manager Ray Blades of St. Paul asked Umpire Gene Allenger to eject Scheetz after the Brewer hurler threw down his glove on one of Allenger's ball and strike decisions.

Another brilliant pitching duel saw Roy Pepper give Kansas City its first victory of the year as he outhurled Minneapolis' Otis Clark, 1-to-0, before 3,500 fans.

Columbus' junior world champion Red Birds had to go 10 innings to whip Louisville, 4-3, the winning run coming on successive doubles by Jack Burman and Johnny Wyrostek. Ken Burkhart who trimmed the Colonels in the Louisville inaugural, repeated his performance before a home opening day crowd of 5,450, scattering 11 hits.

Picking up a run in each of four innings, Toledo defeated Indianapolis, 4-1. The Veteran Harry Kimberlin was the winner, although he had to call for help from Cliff Fannin in the ninth, when Bill Heltzel and Eddie Morgan paired hits for the Tribe's only run. Attendance was 8,409.

COUNTY SPORTSMEN PLAN RALLY TUESDAY

The United Fish and Game clubs of Columbiana county, representing five community organizations, will stage a rally at McGran's hall in East Palestine next Tuesday.

The affair will be the second of that nature to be held by the county clubs within the last month, a similar meeting having been held at the N.B.O.P. hall on March 8 when Congressman Earl R. Lewis and others addressed the gathering.

More speeches relative to the fight against stream pollution, a drive to enroll 5,000 new members and to secure two additional game protectors will be brought to the attention of the sportsmen, a spokesman said.

The rally will open with a fish fry beginning at 6:30 p. m. (East Liverpool Time).

NATION WILL OBSERVE MARITIME DAY MAY 22

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 27—President Roosevelt, proclaiming May 22 as National Maritime day, summoned the nation to honor the men who are risking their lives daily to carry troops and materials "to the far-flung battlefields."

In another proclamation Wednesday, the chief executive designated Sunday, May 14, as Mother's day.

May 22 was designated maritime day because that was the date in 1819 on which the Savannah made the first Atlantic crossing by a steam-propelled vessel.

Three thousand museums and libraries in China have been taken by the Japanese.

'Cal' Courier, Servicemen's Nameless Pal, Calls Unfinished Gym 'Sample Of Neglect'

"Since World War I most of us have been neglectful of our offspring. . . . The unfinished high school auditorium is just a sample of our neglect."

This assertion was made today in an "open letter" to East Liverpool citizens by "Cal" Courier, the anonymous citizen whose chatty letters to about 1,000 men in the service have brought him commendation from major generals and recently an Award for Outstanding Citizenship by Pvt. Eddy Post No. 66, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The "Cal" Courier letters to servicemen have been distributed by the First Presbyterian church for more than two years. Through them, the anonymous correspondent has kept in personal touch with uniformed men from this community—and his mailing list is growing constantly. Names are added regularly without regard to class, creed or color.

His "open letter" to the citizens of East Liverpool, through the medium of The Review's columns, is a challenge to every parent, relative and friend of the men serving Old Glory. It follows:

HI, NEIGHBOR! Mind if I sit down for a little chat? There are a few things I'd like to get off my chest and I promise it won't take long. Maybe by talking them over, we can help each other to think straighter.

Ever since that Pearl Harbor business, I've been writing News Letters to our East Liverpool boys in uniform . . . and, they've been writing to me. We've become right good pals.

It's been quite a lesson to me because for the first time in my life I've seen those lads as they really are. Of course I thought I knew them before as ornery little imps who'd clip you with a snowball when your back was turned or would play all manner of Halloween pranks in the neighborhood in or out of season.

But I really never knew them until I had a chance to find out at first hand how they think, feel and act inside when nobody is looking. You can read a lot between the lines of a fellow's letters, you know.

Anyway, I've come to the conclusion that those boys of ours, even the worst of the lot, are not nearly as bad as we suspected. In fact, I find 'em a mighty fine bunch of lads . . . down deep. They'd have plenty to work with if anybody could take the time to lend 'em a hand.

But right there is the catch . . . too few have ever taken the time to help.

Since World War I, most of us have been neglectful of our offspring. Not intentional, mind you . . . just too busy or too careless. We just let 'em grow. Come 6, we shuffled them off to school and then set about earning money to send 'em to college. In between, we hadn't much time to see how they fared . . . except when they took down with measles.

True, we had law and order in our domicile and the kids respected it. But once they got beyond the front gate, we entrusted them to the hands of the Creator, the school board or city council . . . if we trusted at all.

Mind now, it wasn't deliberate . . . we were just thoughtless. We threw up our hands in horror at the fast-moving world we were living in but were too busy pawing the dust out of our own eyes to note how fast their world was moving, too.

Why, we never even showed 'em how to use their brakes. Little wonder then this weed called Juvenile Delinquency got such a head start.

THE unfinished High School Auditorium is just a sample of our neglect. It stands there a grim reminder of neglectful citizenship. It's been a public football for a long time. To those school kids today, it's like a plump, sweet-smelling Christmas tree without any trimmings.

It is just a promise we never kept. Maybe somebody did muddle up the business end of that deal somewhere along the line. Someone must have erred, else the doors of that building would be open now.

But whatever the cause or whoever is to blame . . . that shouldn't be allowed to make these youngsters suffer any longer. Those school kids toting books today need that building . . . the whole town needs it.

Aside from us back here, I know of around 3,000 of our No. 1 citizens who aren't forgetting that Auditorium either. They're the lads in uniform who are working for Uncle Sam in other parts.

I wish you could read their letters just to see how often and how many ask about that ghost standing up on East Fourth st. Those lads are kids no longer . . . they've grown up. They are out somewhere right now doing a job for which we who are left couldn't measure up. They are earning their citizenship the hard way . . . and earning the right to do some private thinking, too.

Those lads need that Auditorium . . . and they'll want it when they get home.

NOW here's the point, Neighbor: Don't you think it would be kind of nice to get that building finished and ready when these lads return? Wouldn't it make 'em feel a mite happier if we finished this job ourselves? Instead of dilly dallying around and then making 'em pitch in and wash our soiled linen?

We really shouldn't have any unfinished business on our hands when they get home. That building has a hall those lads will need when Peace comes. They'll be planning some right big get-togethers when they get back and they will need a roomy hall like that to hold 'em in.

That Auditorium will be the busiest place in town then. There will be meetings and conventions . . . social gatherings and athletic doings aplenty. After what those lads are going through now, they'll come home mighty hungry for all the things the Auditorium was meant for.

They'll want their Mom and Pop and their kid sisters and brothers to enjoy all those things, too . . . and their wives and their own youngsters when they come along.

Well, there you've got it Neighbor. I've had my say. Of course, I'm putting up a fight for these boys in uniform because they're my Pals and because I know how useful they're going to be in our community in days ahead . . . and because they can't speak for themselves on May 9 at the voting polls.

But I'm thinking, too, of the kids trudging to school right now because I don't want us to neglect them as we did their older brothers who are squirming in fox holes.

And I'm speaking my piece for all of my townsfolk, too . . . so that this place we all call home can have more of the good things that go to make a town a cleaner, better and happier place in which to live and work.

Thing it over, Neighbor, won't you? And thanks for your time.

"CAL" COURIER.

WHY VOTE AT PRIMARY ELECTION?

Speedy and successful termination of the war, is the one great objective upon which our hearts, our minds, and all our energies are centered at this time.

While our boys are sacrificing their lives at the battle front, we face a grave responsibility, to preserve and defend our individual freedom, our traditional independence and our American way of life.

It is the responsibility of every citizen to vote for, and the Republican Party to select, representatives who will fight every step of the way to rid Washington of bureaucracy and regimentation, as well as the pressure groups and lobbies which sway the political minds of both parties.

Men with purely political background with ambition for political careers are not the answer to these problems. Guided by career politicians, our government, under the guise of Liberalism is fast heading into national socialism.

We have another responsibility. Just as great, that relates to the internal economy after the war. If we are not keenly alert, private enterprise may be destroyed and another dole or WPA substituted for employment.

My experience in Washington for the past one and a half years employed in several of the war agencies and closely associated with war and government activities is a challenge that I could not resist.

The security of liberty and constitutional government lies in Congress. Its power is limited by the character of the members comprising that body.

The greater portion of the problems facing them relate closely to agriculture, industry and to our economic life. I believe that more men, experienced in the various phases of our national life should be selected as representatives to Congress. From my observations, it is most convincing that the representation is greatly out of balance.

With due respect to the legal profession, the representation from the state of Ohio comprising seventeen attorneys, four professional men, and but two business men from a total of twenty-three congressmen, is typical.

From this it would be expected that a broader viewpoint of industrial life, employment, agriculture and economic life would be difficult to obtain.

It is not essential for a congressman to spend several terms serving apprenticeship in Washington, at the expense of taxpayers, to do effective work. His success depends entirely upon his ability to gain the respect and confidence of fellow congressmen.

My association, recently, with the various war agencies, which afforded contact with many congressmen and government administrators, among whom I have many good friends, would assist greatly in the immediate effects of my efforts.

I am a candidate because I believe a better job can be done and that I am fully qualified to do it.

I am further convinced, since covering this district in my campaign, that the Republican party can win the November election of a Representatve in Congress, with a business candidate.

I believe that the Post War Period of America will prosper and our Democracy will be safeguarded—"with less government in Business and more business in Government."

JUST A REMINDER

NO HOME, no name—just another stray very much in need of a friend.

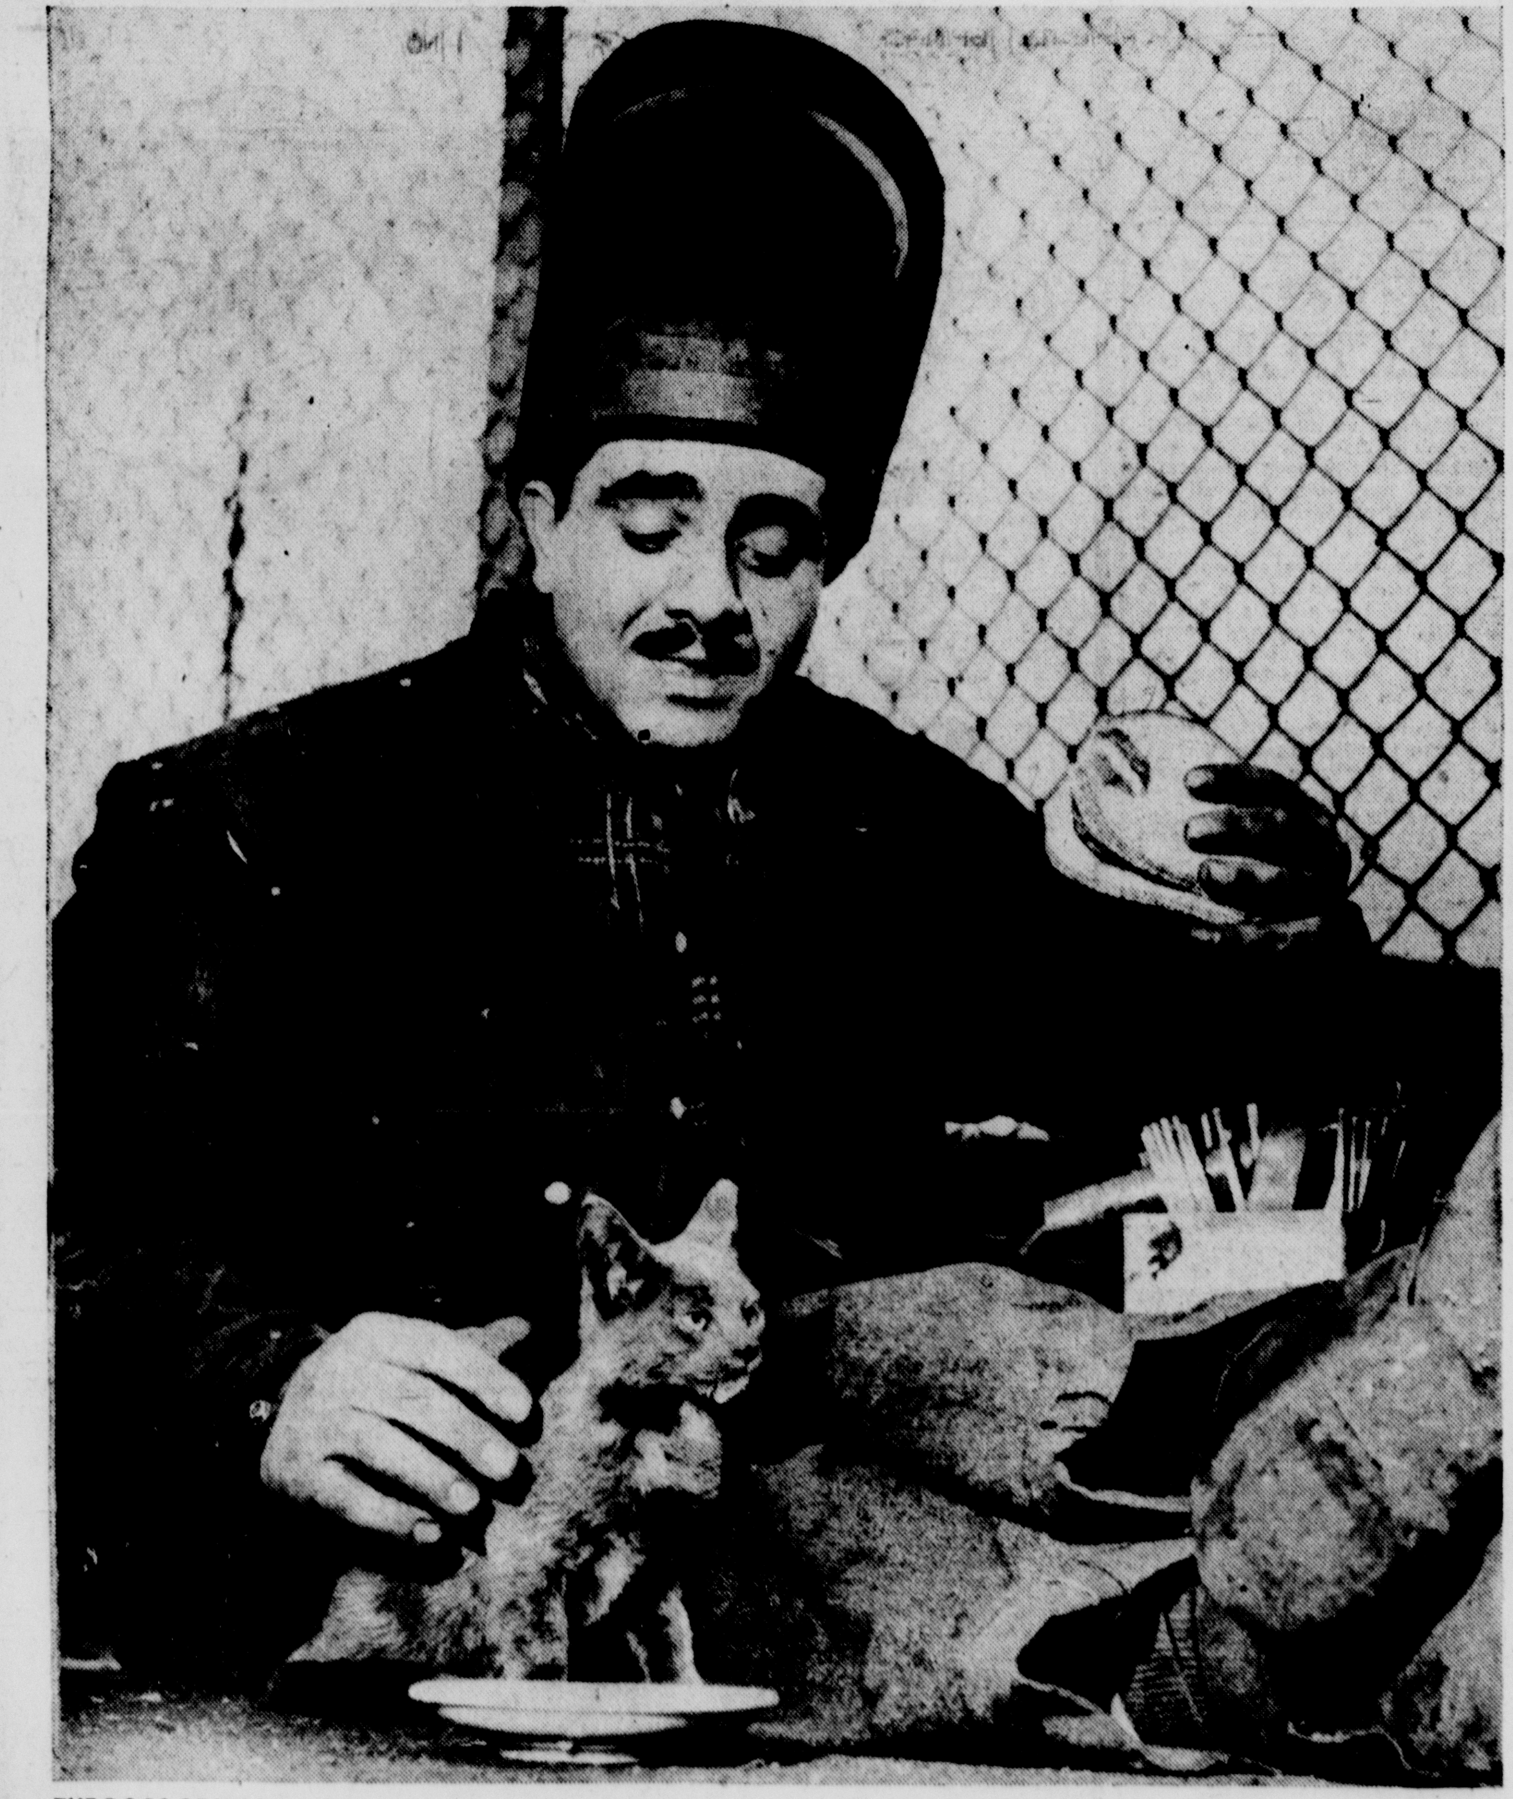
THE cold Spring rain slanted down from bleak skies. Men, hurrying home from work, pulled their coat collars tighter around their throats. Women tilted dripping umbrellas to meet the swirling gusts. Nobody noticed the little dog alone in the doorway.

He was only a mongrel, a shivering, sad-eyed pup who wouldn't have rated a second glance even if he hadn't been so wet and thoroughly bedraggled. Wouldn't have rated a second glance, that is, from anybody other than his master.

But the little dog's master was 3,000 miles away; in England with a lot of other young Americans, waiting for the signal to storm the wall of guns and stone and steel that men call Fortress Europe. The little dog had been left behind in the care of a neighbor. And now he was locked out, hungry and miserable in the rain. Not because the neighbor was cruel or heartless. It wasn't anything as bad as that. Just thoughtlessness. The kind of thoughtlessness that is adding to the misery of thousands of dogs, little and big, mongrel and pedigreed, whose masters have marched off to war.

Be Kind to Animals Week, now being observed throughout the nation, is a reminder to people like the neighbor who had promised to watch over the little dog in the doorway. It is a reminder that animals need care, that they need understanding, that they give much and ask for very little in return.

Rationing has made it harder to secure food for pets. Wartime housing difficulties have added to the number of strays. Now, more than ever before, the lost or abandoned pet is a feller who needs a friend. Perhaps you're the friend the feller needs. You won't let him down . . . will you?



THE DOGS OF WAR get the headlines but the cats are patriotic, too. Thousands of tabbies are on sentry duty in war plants, ready to pounce on any rodent that pops out of its hole, bent on sabotage. Welder Steve Gangemi, above, interrupts his lunch at the Federal Shipyards, Kearny, N. J., to share some milk from his own pail with an agent of the FBI (Feline Bureau of Investigation)

HEARTBREAK can't be cured by medicine. And that's what ails this pup whose master is serving overseas. But don't take chances with your dog. If he seems ill, consult a veterinary.

A GOOD ROMP is the best tonic for a dog. If you live in the city and can't let him off the leash, walk him at least four blocks, every morning and evening. It'll do him good—and you, too.

THE DOGGY MEMBERS of the K-9 Corps go meatless at the front and your pet can too in these days of rationing. Don't let him forage. Feed him dog biscuits, boneless fish, cooked vegetables.

DON'T FORGET DOBBIN when you make your Be Kind to Animals Week resolutions. Even a little thing like a badly adjusted nosebag or harness strap can subject a horse to needless torture.

KITCHEN KORNER

Novel potato dish made with hard boiled eggs.

IN a small family the problem of the cook is how to finish all leftovers without waste. In large families the job is to find enough leftovers to make a meal for all. Sometimes there just aren't any. In the following luncheon menu we'll just imagine you have enough cold boiled potatoes to make the Oak Hill potatoes and if you haven't, you can boil some right after breakfast and let them get cold.

Ready-to-eat cereal Milk
Coffee Milk
Eggs Toast Marmalade
Luncheon
Oak Hill Potatoes Green Salad
Stewed Rhubarb Cookies
Milk Tea
Dinner
Lamb Roast Roasted Potatoes
Beet Greens Spring Salad
Coffee Spice Layer Cake

Oak Hill Potatoes

4 cold boiled potatoes
2 c. milk
6 hard boiled eggs
4 tbsps margarine
3 tbsps. flour
1 tsp. salt and little pepper
Salt and pepper

Slice cold boiled potatoes and hard cooked eggs and arrange in alternate layers in greased baking dish. Sprinkle layers with salt and pepper. Make white sauce with milk, margarine and flour, season with salt and pepper, and pour over potatoes and eggs, top with bread crumbs and a sprinkling of grated cheese if you like, and bake about 15 to 20 minutes in a 350 degree F. oven. Serves 6.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

A good way to collect papers for the government is to obtain a paper carton such as groceries come in, the size of a folded newspaper and about 18 inches deep. Inside, place two long cords, criss-cross and long enough to extend well over the sides. Each day stack paper in the box, and when full tie cords firmly, empty and start over again. This makes for uniform bundles, easily kept until the collector calls.

If you coat the backs of your windshield stickers with a clear fingernail polish, it will provide a good waterproof backing, and stickers won't chip or fall off at the edges from moisture that collects on the windshield.

Electrical appliances, such as irons, shauld be connected to convenient outlets in the wall rather than to lamp sockets which usually carry a lower wattage than is required for appliances.

Low tables designed especially for children will not show scratches and stains from hard wear if they are finished with an oil and turpentine mixture.

Prices In Post-War Era Likely To Be Higher

AP Features

NEW YORK — The brave new post-war world — in which automobiles, vacuum cleaners and refrigerators once more will pour from the factories—is going to cost more than in ante-bellum 1941.

Sixty-nine percent of the executives interviewed by Modern Industry, a magazine for industrial managers, figured prices would increase an average of 18 percent, due mainly to higher labor and material costs.

This may be disconcerting to the householder impatient for the day when he can replace a wheezing vacuum cleaner or an asthmatic radio, but don't give up hope.

Seventeen percent of those interviewed predicted price reductions because of new methods, new designs, and the well-known economic pressure of competition, and the rest said there would be no change.

And 71 percent opined that once the early reconversion period ended, prices would fall until they leveled off at 13 percent above pre-war periods.

Compared with 1941 levels, here are some Modern Industry long- and short-range forecasts:

Automobiles—20 percent higher.

Cigarets—5 to 10 percent higher.

Farm implements—5 to 10 percent higher.

Household hardware—10 to 20 percent higher.

Heating equipment—5 to 20 percent higher, dropping to 10 percent higher.

Radios — Somewhat higher; no agreement as to how much.

CLARK CHARGES SLAP AT NEGRO

Says Discrimination Delays G.I. 'Bill Of Rights'

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 27—Controversy over the $3,500,000,000 G.I. "bill of rights" flared on a new front Wednesday when Sen. Clark (D) of Missouri attriuted delay of house action to "the hatred of certain congressmen for the colored soldiers."

Turning his fire on Rep. Rankin (D) of Mississippi, who later said he did "not care to comment" on the Missourian's assertion, Clark declared that if the house struck out unemployment compensation provisions, it would have to accept responsibility for defeat of the bill.

'Won't Be Stampeded'

Clark, one-time national commander of the American Legion, is chairman of the senate finance subcommittee which sparked the omnibus World War II veterans' aid bill to unanimous senate passage prior to the Easter recess.

Rankin, chairman of the house veterans' legislation committee, reported Saturday the committee is going over the bill carefully, "trying to make of it a workable piece of constructive legislation" and does not propose "to be stampeded by anyone."

"The resistance to the senate bill is, in my judgment, based entirely upon the hatred of certain congressmen for the colored portion of our armed forces," Clark told newsmen.

"They are so unwilling to allow the colored troops to have the unemployment insurance to which they would be entitled that they would be desirous of withholding absolutely-deserved benefits from all of our troops."

The bill would provide up to 52 weeks unemployment compensation out of a 24-month period for men and women veterans of the armed forces unable to find regular work, plus $5 a week for married men and $5 for a child.

"We regard the provisions of the G.I. bill of rights with reference to unemployment insurance as the absolute minimum to which all men and women who serve in the armed forces should be entitled," Clark asserted.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Tips On How To Keep Well

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Child ills often recur in old age.

SECOND childhood is a graphic phrase which refers in common parlance only to the mental habits of the very old. There is a macabre ring to the word second in that connection—repetitions in life are too often repugnant. A child toddling and lurching across the floor in its first attempts to walk is charming; not so in second childhood with his last attempts to walk.

I say second childhood means particularly the mental characters of the period. But there is also a curious repetition of the physical ailments of the young in old age: it is often forgotten by physicians that old people are susceptible to some of the diseases particularly likely to be found in children.

To name only two — whooping cough and appendicitis. I have frequently repeated in this column the clinical aphorism—"If Johnny brings whooping cough home from school, who in the household is most likely to get it?" The answer is—"Grandpa."

Disease Of Young

Appendicitis is particularly a disease of the young. If you were to investigate the hospital records of a thousand cases of appendicitis and classify them on the basis of the age of the patient alone, you would find that about 750 were under the age of 30, and of these 250 were under the age of 10.

The incidence declines very rapidly after the age of 30. This is because the appendix atrophies, especially the lymphatic or tonsillar-like tissues of which it is so largely composed at birth and by the age of 40 it is a mere string in most people.

Dr. A. E. Hertzler examined a thousand appendices at all ages and found that of those recovered from persons over the age of 40 that 75 percent were so atrophied that there was hardly anything left to infect, so that infection by germs and consequent appendicitis is a very remote possibility.

Again Become Liable

But that 25 percent of the population does go on to old age with its appendix lymphatic tissue more or less intact and with the further factor of the reduced resistance to germs which occurs in elderly people so that they again become liable to appendicitis.

Since gallstones occur so frequently in old people (a recent series of reported autopsies on people over 80 showed that 90 per cent of them harbored gallstones) an acute stomach ache in an elderly person is almost invariably put down to gallstone colic when quite often it is appendicitis.

The diagnosis is further confused in that doctors always feel that a fever should go with appendicitis. They get it in young people but the old notably are sluggish with temperature response, so their appendicitis is likely to go without fever, and hence is overlooked. But the appendicitis of old people is a good example of second childhood.

Diet Of The Aged

Another is the diet of the aged. One great mistake in the medical management of the aged is to let them select their own food, which they do on the basis of the condition of their teeth, selecting the foods they can chew, and on the basis of previous tastes, and somewhat on the pocketbook.

In any family circle great attention is paid to selecting the diet of the child, but it is equally important to select and insist on the diet of the aged. Here, since I have knocked the indiscriminate use of concentrated vitamins on so many occasions, let me say that such vitamins should be given as a routine to the aged.

There is a new specialty rising in medicine — geriatrics — the management of the troubles of old age, which should throw much life on these subjects. The life expectancy of a baby born in 1900 was on the average 40 years, but in 1944 it is closer to 65 years, so we have an increasingly large aged population to care for.

TIRE DATA NECESSARY IN APPLYING FOR GAS

Old tire inspection records must be retained and must accompany all gasoline applications, Willard Garner, chairman of the gasoline panel of the East Liverpool ration board said today.

About 50 percent of East Liverpool motorists applying for more gasoline fail to bring their tire inspection records with them, the chairman said. No gasoline can be issued without them, he emphasized.

Applications for extra gasoline, the chairman pointed out, have to be passed on by the panel at its regular meeting nights and it may take two or three days before the application will be ready. "Many people making application expect to get their extra coupons right away, and this cannot be done," he said.

PUBLISHER HEAD HITS AT OVER-CENSORSHIP

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 27—Linwood I. Noyes, president of the American Newspaper Publishers association, said Wednesday there "appears to be a need for getting back to the fundamental principle" that the only reason for censorship is military security.

"There must be no censorship for any other reason," he told the 58th annual meeting of the A.N.P.A.

"Censorship must not be used for political purposes, domestic or international, nor should it be used to conceal inefficiency or cover up blunders."

Declaring the question of war news censorship has come increasingly to the fore in recent months, Noyes said:

"In general, those who have been entrusted with leadership of our fighting men have used good judgment in their release of news. Unfortunately, there have been exceptions, and it is these which have provoked criticism."

90-YEAR-OLD COXEY PLANS CAPITOL TALK

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, April 27—Ninety-year-old "General" Jacob S. Coxey of Massillon, who led "Coxey's Army" upon Washington a half century ago, said Wednesday he will attempt to mark the anniversary May 1 with an address from the steps of the national capitol.

"But this time I'll keep off the grass," grinned Coxey, vigorous despite his age and picturesque in a wing collar.

He was refused permission to make the address 50 years ago and was fined $5 and costs and sentenced to 20 days in jail for walking on the grass.
